

Barry withdraws request in face of resident unrest

by Jeff Nazario

With new federal regulations for fuel storage due to hit in 1998, Joe Barry, owner of Joe Barry's Oil Co. on Main Street, approached the Wilmington Board of Selectmen Monday night with a request to move his storage tanks above ground. But after residents of Clark Street, which abuts the oil company, voiced opposition to the move and leveled attacks against the company and Barry, he withdrew the request.

"I'll just put the tanks back in the ground," he said. "I think [underground] is the best way to go, but if [the neighbors] don't think so I'll just, before 1998, put the tanks back in the ground."

Barry, and Bill Baird, a professional engineer, said that the above ground tanks, which would have stood a foot off the ground in concrete tubs capped with canopies, would offer a more environmentally sound system for storing the 80,000 gallons of home heating oil Barry keeps on his property. Barry said he chose this way to meet the federal regulations, despite its higher cost than replacing his existing underground tanks with approved new underground tanks, because above ground tanks are easier to monitor and less likely to cause contamination in the event of a spill.

But some residents said they did not want what they feel is already an eyesore, the back yard of the oil company, complicated by the appearance of tanks above the ground. Others felt the above ground tanks could create a safety hazard for neighborhood children.

For his request, Barry received positive recommendations from the fire chief, the building inspector and the director of public health, but had a negative reaction from the planning board and at least two selectmen - Bob Cain and Michael McCoy.

The planning board said that Barry's industrial use conflicts with the newly rezoned area his business lies in. That area was zoned from General Industrial to General Business at the 1994 Annual Town Meeting for the creation of a "central business district". Planning Board Chairman Carole Hamilton, in attendance Monday night, said moving the tanks above ground would constitute an expansion of the business, which under the new zoning guidelines would require a special permit from the board of appeals.

As licensing authority, selectmen could have simply issued the new permit, but Cain and McCoy said they opposed the move, McCoy for planning reasons, Cain for safety concerns.

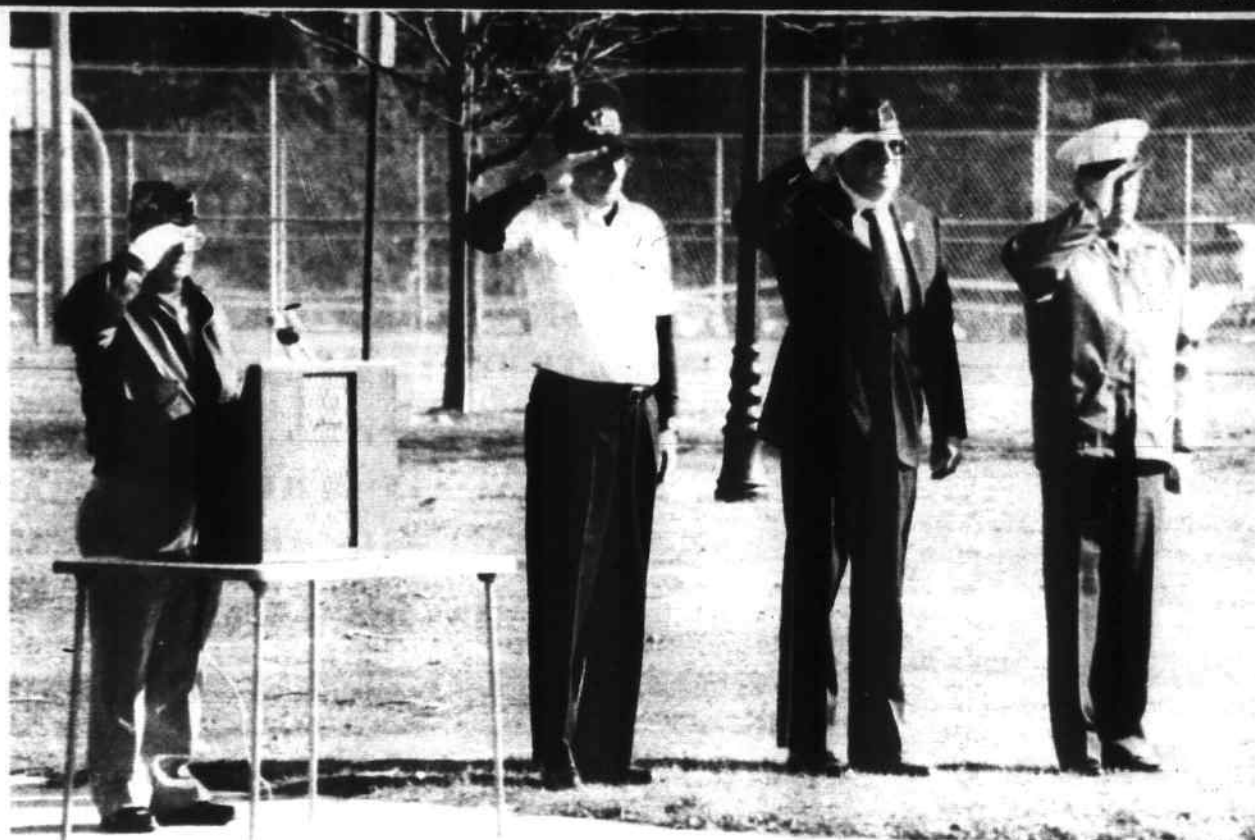

"It's just too close to the main drag," McCoy said. "There's too much traffic, not to mention the residents."

Cain said that given the location of the business, underground tanks made more sense. Cain's brother Fred, a former Clark Street resident, leveled personal attacks against Barry in saying he opposed the above ground tanks.

"Now, I'm not for putting Mr. Barry out of business, but Mr. Barry has had no consideration for the abutters in that area," Fred Cain said.

While Barry could still have squeezed out a three to two vote, he instead chose to withdraw the request.

"I respect my neighbors and my abutters wishes," Barry said. "They seem like they don't want it. I'm not that bad of a person as some of them seem to think I am. I'll withdraw the above ground request."

New church to kick-off services

by Jeff Nazario

The Wilmington Baptist Fellowship will hold its first of what will be weekly church services Sunday, Nov. 17 at St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Chapel. And for Pastor Daryn Marsh, who founded the church more than a year ago, it's high time.

"It's been a long 13 months waiting for this, but it's finally here," Marsh said.

The church, affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention, officially began last October as a Bible study in Marsh's home, at 51 Adams Street. The study still meets, on Tuesday nights from 6-7 p.m. and on Wednesday nights from 7-9 p.m.

And then there were services. Or will be come Nov. 17. Marsh said he began looking for space to rent in August and, when he got to St. Elizabeth's found that it was "no problem at all."

"So it's like it was meant to be there," he said.

As pastor of the Wilmington Baptist Fellowship, Marsh will perform the services, scheduled to run from 6-7 p.m. every Sunday. Child care will be provided, as will Sunday School for older children. A half-hour long reception with coffee will follow the services.

"This is an open invitation to everybody," Marsh said. "So come out and check us out."

St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Chapel is located in Wilmington on the corner of Forest Street and Aldrich Road. The Wilmington Baptist Fellowship telephone number is 658-1588.

The First Baptist-run Abundant Life Christian School has opened at its new Church Street location. Last week, firefighter Bob Patrie of the Wilmington Fire Department demonstrated the tools of his trade to students at the school.

Boards to gather for space talk

by Jeff Nazario

To aid the permanent building committee in its continuing task of disseminating the Wilmington Space Needs Study and choosing an option for the town, a working meeting of major town boards will be held at Town Hall in early December.

The meeting comes after a recommendation from Town Manager Michael Cairra at the permanent building committee's Oct. 29 meeting.

"At that meeting," Cairra states in an inter-departmental memo delivered to members of the board of selectmen, school committee, finance committee and permanent building committee as well as Superintendent of Schools Dr. Geraldine O'Donnell, "I recommended that a meeting of the above named boards be convened to further discuss the options emanating from the space needs study and to discuss public presentation strategies."

The study, completed by the consulting firm Archetype Architecture late last summer, offers solutions to the town's municipal space needs problems, broken down into four options. Any of the four, if implemented, would require a debt exclusion (Prop 2 1/2 override) vote. This is where the "public presentation strategies" enter the mix.

As the permanent building committee continues to meet, the multi-board meeting will be held Dec. 2 at 7:00 p.m. at the Town Hall. The meeting is being billed as a working session.

Selectmen fill spot on Town Center Committee

by Jeff Nazario

The Wilmington Board of Selectmen Monday night appointed Peggy Quinn to fill the spot on the Wilmington Town Center Committee vacated by Ken Mastrullo. Quinn's appointment came via a unanimous vote following a nomination from Selectman Michael McCoy.

When Selectmen two months ago made their five appointments to the committee, in a process that caused a clash between members Robert Cain and Jim Rooney, McCoy was the only selectman not to have a nominee appointed. Based on that, after a brief discussion, McCoy was given first crack at nominating a replacement for Mastrullo.

The suggestion to allow McCoy to make the nomination came from Selectman Dan Wandell after Rooney opened the discussion with a congenial "Anyone in mind?" directed at the entire board.

The controversy the first time around centered over nomination versus appointment. Cain felt each selectman should appoint a member, but it was voted that each would instead nominate a member to be appointed by a vote of the board.

Selectmen went in turns at that time, Cain first. Selectman Michael Newhouse went second then McCoy, whose nominee was voted down. Before it got back to McCoy, the five positions were filled. Cain was upset that McCoy did not, as it turned out, get to "appoint" a member of the committee. McCoy said at that time he was satisfied with the wishes of the board.

Mastrullo was Cain's nomination, so in effect, Cain too did not get to "appoint" a member; but he had no problem Monday with McCoy making the selection, especially since Cain had initially supported Quinn as a member of the committee. Quinn was not nominated by any selectman the first time around.

Still, Cain used Monday night to voice his displeasure with the proceedings two months ago (he did the same three weeks after that meeting), saying the controversy then caused Mastrullo to quit the board. At the first center committee meeting, it was announced by Town Manager Michael Cairra, also a member of the committee, that Mastrullo was unable to serve due to business commitments.

"I think it's unfortunate," Cain said, "that such controversy should arise."

Cain also continued to push for a public hearing before the board of selectmen on the matter of the town center.

Newhouse, who was elected chairman of the town center committee at its first meeting, said the committee has been discussing holding a public hearing, but Cain said he wants selectmen, and not what he termed "a subcommittee" of the board of selectmen, to hold the hearing. The center committee was formed by the board, but includes non-selectmen members.

Newhouse said the committee, which was scheduled to meet this Wednesday, was in the process of drawing up a long term agenda and would continue to discuss the issue of public hearings.

Taxpayers devote a lot of time and energy to maximizing their tax deductions. Even more worthwhile are the above-the-line savings, adjustments from income before the Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) is figured. Best of these come from tax-advantaged savings plans. They pay off two ways: with income adjustments now, and tax-deferred growth until you tap into the funds.

If you are eligible to enroll in a 401(k) plan, do it. Smart savers contribute as much as they can, thus earning maximum matching funds from the employer. Self-employment income qualifies you for a SEP or Keogh. Everyone with earned income can contribute to an IRA (though it may not be deductible).

Those who work in nonprofit organizations, schools and hospitals may have a 403(b) plan, which has less employer matching of funds and may be limited to annuities. State or local government workers may have a 457 plan, slightly riskier but still worth having.

Celebrating American Education Week

by Christine L. McGrath, Ph.D.
The faculty, staff and administration of the Tewksbury Public Schools have planned many programs and events to commemorate American Education Week.

Heath Brook School: School visitations in grades one through five will take place on Wednesday, November 21 and Thursday, November 22 from 9:15 to 11 a.m. Kindergarten visitations are scheduled for Wednesday, 9:15 to 11 a.m. and Thursday from 1 to 2 p.m.

Traban School: November has been declared Family Literacy Month. November 1 was Family Literacy Day and Author's Day took place on November 6. The Author's Day featured a day long program for the students with an "author in residence" and an evening program for parents and the community. The faculty will provide parents with suggested activities to promote literacy throughout the month. These activities will be on display in the school during Education Week. Classroom visitations have been scheduled for Tuesday November 19 from 9:30 to 11 a.m. and Wednesday, November 20 from 1 to 2 p.m.

North Street/Center Schools: Center School Kindergarten children will compare our schools with Pilgrim schools. Grade one will share Native American projects. Grade two will perform skits about the Pilgrims' landing in America. Grade three will use the high interest American Girl Series to compare the past with the present. Grade four will host a poetry contest and Grade five will complete a project involving the theme "What is the importance of American Education Week?"

Dewing and Ella Fleming Schools: Will open their doors for parental visitations on Tuesday, November 19 and Thursday, November 21 from 9:30 to 11 a.m.

and from 1 to 2 p.m.

Wynn Middle School: Parents of students in grade six are invited to visit the school on November 18 with parents of grade seven students scheduled for November 19 and parents of grade eight students visiting the school on November 20. Visitations on all three days can take place from 8:20 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Parents may attend for the full time or a part of the time. Parents who are planning on visiting the school will be asked to complete the form and return it to the school so a visitation schedule can be prepared.

Tewksbury Memorial High School: Will host an open house on the evening of November 21. Throughout the week interested parents are welcome to visit classes, tour the school and experience our technology centers.

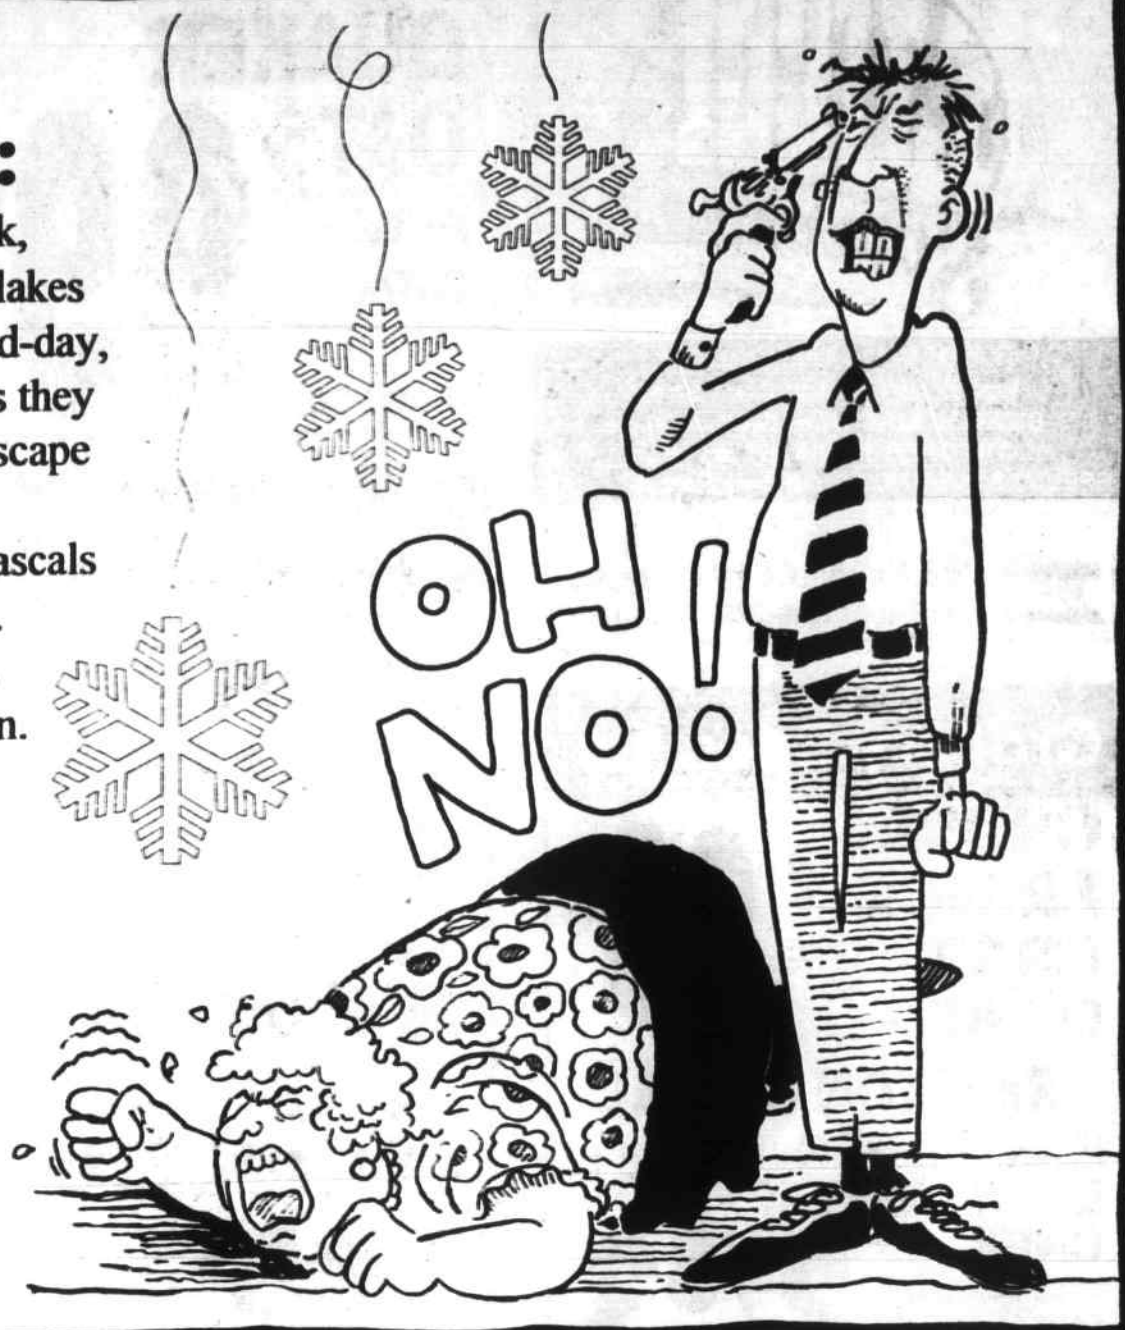

Members of the administration and the School Committee will meet with area realtors on Wednesday, November 20 at 1 p.m. in the computer lab at the High School. The administrators and the Committee will inform the realtors about new program initiatives, the improvement of our students' test scores and the plans for a new elementary school. Informational packet will be distributed to all realtors for the information of prospective home buyers.

We hope that many parents and community members will take the time to visit our schools during this important week. We look forward to welcoming the community into our schools.

Letters to the editor

No one is laughing now ... Jim DiPaola elected sheriff

Dear Larz:
[The following is the victory speech of Middlesex County Sheriff-elect Jim DiPaola.]

There's a new sheriff in town!
And the new sheriff has good news and bad news.

The good news is that thanks to your hard work over the past 12 months, the new sheriff's name is Jim DiPaola.

The bad news is that while the campaign is over, the hard work has just begun.

Since my campaign began, you have all heard me say that I have always wanted to be sheriff of Middlesex County. You have all heard me say that I believe that I have been training to be sheriff for all of my adult life. Now that the election is over, I can tell you the truth.

The truth is, I did not just want to be the next sheriff of Middlesex County. I want to be the best sheriff Middlesex County and the commonwealth of Massachusetts has ever seen - and now that's going to happen.

It's going to happen because of you. After all the work you did for me, I could not possibly let you down by not living up to the promises I have made.

I know that the citizens of Middlesex County chose Jim DiPaola because he was the best candidate for sheriff, but that never would have happened if you hadn't helped me spread the word.

Some so-called experts smirked when I said that even though Middlesex County is larger than 11 states in the United States, we were still going to run a grass roots organization and we would win.

No one is laughing now. I can't possibly mention everyone by name, but I hope you all know that I am forever in your debt for helping me to become sheriff. It was truly a grass roots victory.

Every person that spent time at my headquarters typing names into the computer helped Jim DiPaola become sheriff.

Every person who held signs in Lowell, in Framingham, in Cambridge and everywhere else, helped Jim DiPaola become sheriff.

Every person who took the time to write out dear friends or put a bumper sticker on their cars, helped Jim DiPaola become sheriff. Every person who wrote a check, who stuffed an envelope, or who passed out balloons helped Jim DiPaola become sheriff.

The best way I know to say thank you to all of you is by becoming the best sheriff Middlesex County has ever seen.

I don't take pledges lightly.

Twenty-two years ago, I took a pledge to serve the public as a Malden police officer and I have always honored that pledge. For 18 years I honored that pledge on the streets of Malden and our neighboring communities. For the past four years I have honored that pledge, not because it was part of my job, but because I believed in it and because it was the right thing to do.

Tonight, as I did in September when we won the primary, I renew that pledge to you and to every citizen in Middlesex County.

Four years ago, I swore another oath. As a state representative, I swore to uphold the public's trust and to represent my constituents to the best of my ability. I honored that pledge for four years and tonight, I reiterate my commitment to public service to you and to all of Middlesex County.

Those two pledges are the public oaths which I have sworn to uphold and together, they tell you a lot about who Jim DiPaola is.

But there is one other pledge which I would like to mention tonight. It's an oath I took almost 21 years ago when I married Ade-line Izzicuppo.

I didn't know then that my life would be spent serving the public. I didn't know then how much my wife, my three daughters, Jennifer, Jaime and Jillian, and all our relatives would have to sacrifice so that I could make my dreams come true - but I know now that it was the most important oath I have ever taken and I thank my family for the years of love and support they have given me.

In a few short weeks, I will again take another oath when I am sworn in as sheriff of Middlesex County and I will uphold that oath, just like I have lived up to every other oath I have taken.

Thank you just doesn't seem adequate enough, but I hope you all know how much I appreciate your efforts to get me elected sheriff.

On behalf of my family I thank you.

On behalf of myself I thank you.

Thank you for tonight, but the best thank you I can give you is still to come - that's when I become the best sheriff this county has ever seen - and then you can be proud that you elected Jim DiPaola sheriff.

Thank you and God bless.

Jim DiPaola, Sheriff
Middlesex County

Regardless of the odds ...

Dear Larz:

Last January I made the decision to run for state representative. From the start of the campaign I was fortunate enough to have the assistance of several life-long friends (Steve Webb, Brian Downer, and Sal Caravelli), my family and my wife, Nan. Together we mapped out a campaign that started in February and culminated on election day with a victory.

As I stated to supporters on election night, words cannot adequately express the gratitude I feel to those people who supported me throughout the campaign.

Everyone knew going into the race that we were the underdogs and the local "experts" did not give me a chance of winning. Regardless of the odds a large number of people offered many hours of their time and assistance to help me reach the voters in our district.

Supporters like Mike Newhouse, Ann Marie and Rick Catino, Anna Visconti, Ed and Gloria Cocoran, Pat Duggan, Joe and Judy Duggan, and many others were kind enough to offer their time throughout the long campaign. I am grateful to them and everyone who helped me along the way.

I look forward to the next two years and serving our district as your representative on Beacon Hill. I will remain accessible and responsive to the needs of district residents and will bring the concerns of our district to Boston.

Again, I want to thank my supporters and those people who gave me a vote of confidence on election day.

Kindest regards,

Charles A. Murphy
State Representative-Elect
23rd Middlesex District

Wilmington

According to members of the Arena Authority, the ice arena on Main Street was nearing completion and would soon be open. According to authority member Jack Cushing "we're in the final stage of throwing the switch and for the first time recently I had an urge to don my skates again."

Town Manager Buzz Stacynski was pictured jogging past the MacDougall home on Middlesex Avenue in spite of recent snowfall.

School Food Service Director Anne Quinn reported that 94 percent of students in the school system were participating in the lunch program.

Janet Bonnell and her son Michael were pictured feeding a flock of about 50 Canada geese gathered in Rotary Park.

Wildwood School teacher Doug Anderson was not allowed to ignore his 40th birthday. He was

Kathleen Duce and Amy Palman, both of Wilmington were named to the honors list for the first term at Our Lady of Nazareth Academy in Wakefield.

Bill Meegan and Bob Hamlin were pictured preparing to move into their new computer store in North Wilmington.

Michelle Ross of Wedgewood Avenue was named to the dean's list at Northeastern University for the summer quarter.

A frigid Thursday night did not deter Wilmington teachers from gathering outside WHS during an open house. The teachers were on hand to distribute flyers showing their displeasure with salary negotiations.

Tewksbury

Little Ashley Farrell experienced snow for the first time when she went out to watch her dad clear the driveway after a Wednesday night snowstorm.

Redmen defenders John Cho and Dan Britten were pictured as they moved in to help the diving efforts of teammates Mike Fitzpatrick and Brian Donahue in a heartbreaking 15-14 loss to Andover.

David MacInnis of Baldwin Street was pictured riding his bike through snowdrifts because "he wanted to get there," and Wednesday's storm had rendered many other modes of transportation useless.

Letter to the editor

Loneliness picks no certain person

Dear Larz:

I'm writing to you in my time of need in hope you can find it in your heart to help me if you can.

I was born in Tewksbury and lived there until I was 7. Mom and dad died in an automobile accident when I was 14 and I was in and out of foster homes until I was 18. I'm now 27 years old and incarcerated with two years and I have never felt this kind of loneliness before.

I don't have anyone to write or anyone writing me. I'm not a bad person just because I'm in here. Everyone makes mistakes and I have made one, but I'm letting my past teach me so I can be a better person in the days to come.

I have an uncle, Bill P. Johnson, who lives in or around Tewksbury that I'm trying to find. He is the only family I have and I'm hoping you can run my letter in your paper so he can see it and maybe write me.

I need someone I can trust with my thoughts and feelings. If any one reads my letter that is lonely, please write because I know how you feel. I'm a white male but loneliness picks no certain person.

Editor, even if you can't help me at this time, I want to wish you and everyone in and around Tewksbury the two greatest gifts of all, and they are, to have someone to love, and have someone love you for the person you are.

Thank you,

Jerry A. Johnson

Looking for the right whale are members of the North Intermediate eighth grade. It was a beautiful day and Mr Right finally did show his tail, although he was of the humpback variety.

Mr. Right is a Humpback

When do whales sleep? Rounded off to the nearest hundred, how much does the average full grown humpback weigh? How often can a female humpback have a calf?

These are just a sampling of the questions answered by some of the sixth grade students from the North Intermediate School on Thursday's whale watch.

After previewing information on the humpback whales of New England, 70 sixth graders spent the day on a boat off the coast of Gloucester watching the humpbacks and minkes in their feeding ground - Stellwagen Bank. The beautiful weather made viewing the multitude of sea mammals feeding on sand eels particularly delightful.

The students and their teachers Mrs. Woods, Mr. Tildsley and Mr. Birmingham witnessed the whales creating bubble clouds, doing tail flaps, making fluke slaps and breaching, all while listening to a presentation by a whale naturalist from the Cetacean Research Unit.

The teachers thank Joy Brown, Nancy Dorothy, Pamela Downs, Bradley Stevenson, Terry McKenna, and Lynne Guzinski for their assistance in making the day so enjoyable and worthwhile for the students.

Wilmington senior topics

Thanks, Elks

We extend our grateful thanks to members of the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks for preparing and serving a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings to about 250 Wilmington senior citizens on Thursday evening, November 7.

It was a packed house but that did not stop the Elks and their wives from traveling back and forth from table to kitchen, to make sure the meals were brought to the tables hot and ready to eat. As if the dinner was not enough of a holiday gift. To the delight of all, a number of gift articles were raffled off. The remainder of the evening was spent dancing to the wonderful music of Jimmy and Elaine. Thanks again to all the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks for a very enjoyable evening.

Commissioners' meeting

The Commissioners meeting will be held Tuesday, November 19 starting at 1:30 p.m. The guest speaker will be Bob O'Byck. Bob is Blue Cross administrator for Medex supplement insurance policy. Medicare coverage and HMO Blue. This is a once a year opportunity to listen and ask questions of Mr. O'Byck on the drastic increase cost of Blue Cross Medex policies. A chance to compare the cost of HMO Blue with other HMO's. Also how our Medicare coverage is being effected by joining an HMO. Another question seniors are asking that they need an answer to is the question of a second mammogram prescribed by their doctor. Why will Medicare and seniors supplement policy not cover it? The most important worry the elderly have today is their health care; is it going to be there when they need it? Will it be the seniors' responsibility, insurance companies or will it be completely under Medicare government coverage? The only way to get the answers is to be at this meeting and listen as they are answered by Mr. O'Byck. If you have a bill submitted to Blue Cross or Medicare that was not covered by either, take it with you.

Dr. Mullen

Podiatrist Dr. Mullen will be at the center Wednesday morning November 20 starting at nine. He will treat ailments of the feet. Remember, the doctor is at the center for the convenience of the seniors, who do not have transportation or would prefer to go to the center than drive a distance through traffic traveling to his office. The cost for the treatment is handled by the doctor. If you have a question, ask the doctor before treatment starts. Please call the center for treatment the day before as this allows the doctor to plan his schedule.

Nurse Ann

Nurse Ann will be at the center Thursday, November 21. She will be checking blood pressures and giving diabetes tests. It is taking a little blood to test the sugar level. Diabetes is a silent killer if not detected early.

Senior fair

The Senior Fair is but three weeks away. It is coming along fine; Marilyn is very happy, the chance books are almost gone. Now she will be glad when all the book money out is returned. The success of the fair usually in past years, depends on how well the chance books sold. Marilyn is hoping the Senior Fair she is chairing this year will follow the same trend.

Next week

Programs next week include: whist, daily in the kitchen at 1 p.m. with coffee and donuts available while playing. They would like more seniors to join them, to make the game more challenging.

Monday, November 18, aerobic class from 10 to 11 a.m., art class from 1 to 3 p.m., Tuesday November 19, shop class from 9 a.m. to noon, Wednesday, November 20, aerobic class from 10 to 11 a.m., craft class from nine to noon, Thursday, Nov. 21, sewing, knitting and crocheting class from 9 a.m. to noon, dance class from 1 to 2:30 p.m., Friday, Nov. 22, aerobic class from 10 to 11 a.m., bingo from 1 to 3 p.m.

Attorney General

The office of Attorney General Scott Harshbarger and Continental Cablevision presents a three part series on Consumer Protection issues, Tuesday, Nov. 26, 8 p.m.; Thursday evening December 5 at 8, Thursday, December 19 at 8; Thursday, Jan. 2, 8 p.m. and Thursday, Jan. 16, also at 8 p.m. Wilmington Continental Cablevision will carry all these broadcasts.

Federal And Mass Emergency Management Agencies

Representatives from the Federal and Mass Emergency Management Agencies have provided assistance that may be available to individuals affected by the recent rains. Middlesex County has been declared a Federal Disaster Area, as a result low interest loans may be available. Individuals who sustained flooded basements may be eligible for Federal Assistance loans, replaced food, clothing or temporary housing. If interested call 1-800-462-9029. A refund may be allowed on your Federal and State taxes.

Football team chalks up 8th win as fans jump off the bandwagon

The ill effects of last week's loss hindered the Blue and White, but the Cats battled through it and beat Hamilton-Wenham 20-7 in a wet, sloppy game played at Alumni Field in Wilmington on Saturday afternoon.

Instead of last week's 5,000 fans watching the Wilmington High School football game, around 100 wet ones watched a flat Wilmington team win its eighth game of the season. With their 8-1 overall record, Wilmington was eliminated from Super Bowl play when North Andover defeated Newburyport on Friday night - the Scarlet Knights will be making their second Division Four Super Bowl appearance in the last three years.

Head coach Bob Almeida realizes that his team is still hurting from last week's 35-8 devastating loss to North Andover.

"We hate to admit it, but we are still feeling the effects of last week. We were a little flat today. I thought we played hard, but we were missing something," Almeida said.

Hamilton-Wenham started with the ball at their own 34-yard line to get the game underway. After four Sean Tulloch carries, the Generals decided to punt on fourth down at their own 42. As Vincent Gaudenzi took the snap, Wilmington's defensive end Mike O'Toole took off, and he went into Gaudenzi, therefore, a roughing the kicker penalty was called and H/W got a first down at the Wilmington 42-yard line.

After two plays in which they gained a yard, H/W was called for two consecutive false start penalties, pushing the ball back ten yards. Another incomplete pass forced them to punt again and Wilmington took over at their own 34-yard line with 7:22 remaining in the first quarter.

On the first play from scrimmage, Sean Kerrigan (16 carries for 135 yards) gained 9 yards on a nice cut-back move to the middle from the left side. That set-up a 10 play, 66-yard drive in which Billy Harrison (11 carries for 74 yards, with 68 of them coming in the second half) finished it off with a 7-yard TD run from a Tim Gillis pitch. Tim Gillis' (2-4, 40 yards) pass failed on the two-point conversion try and Wilmington found themselves leading 6-0 with 2:45 left in the first quarter. That was the fifth time this season in which the Cats scored on their first series of play.

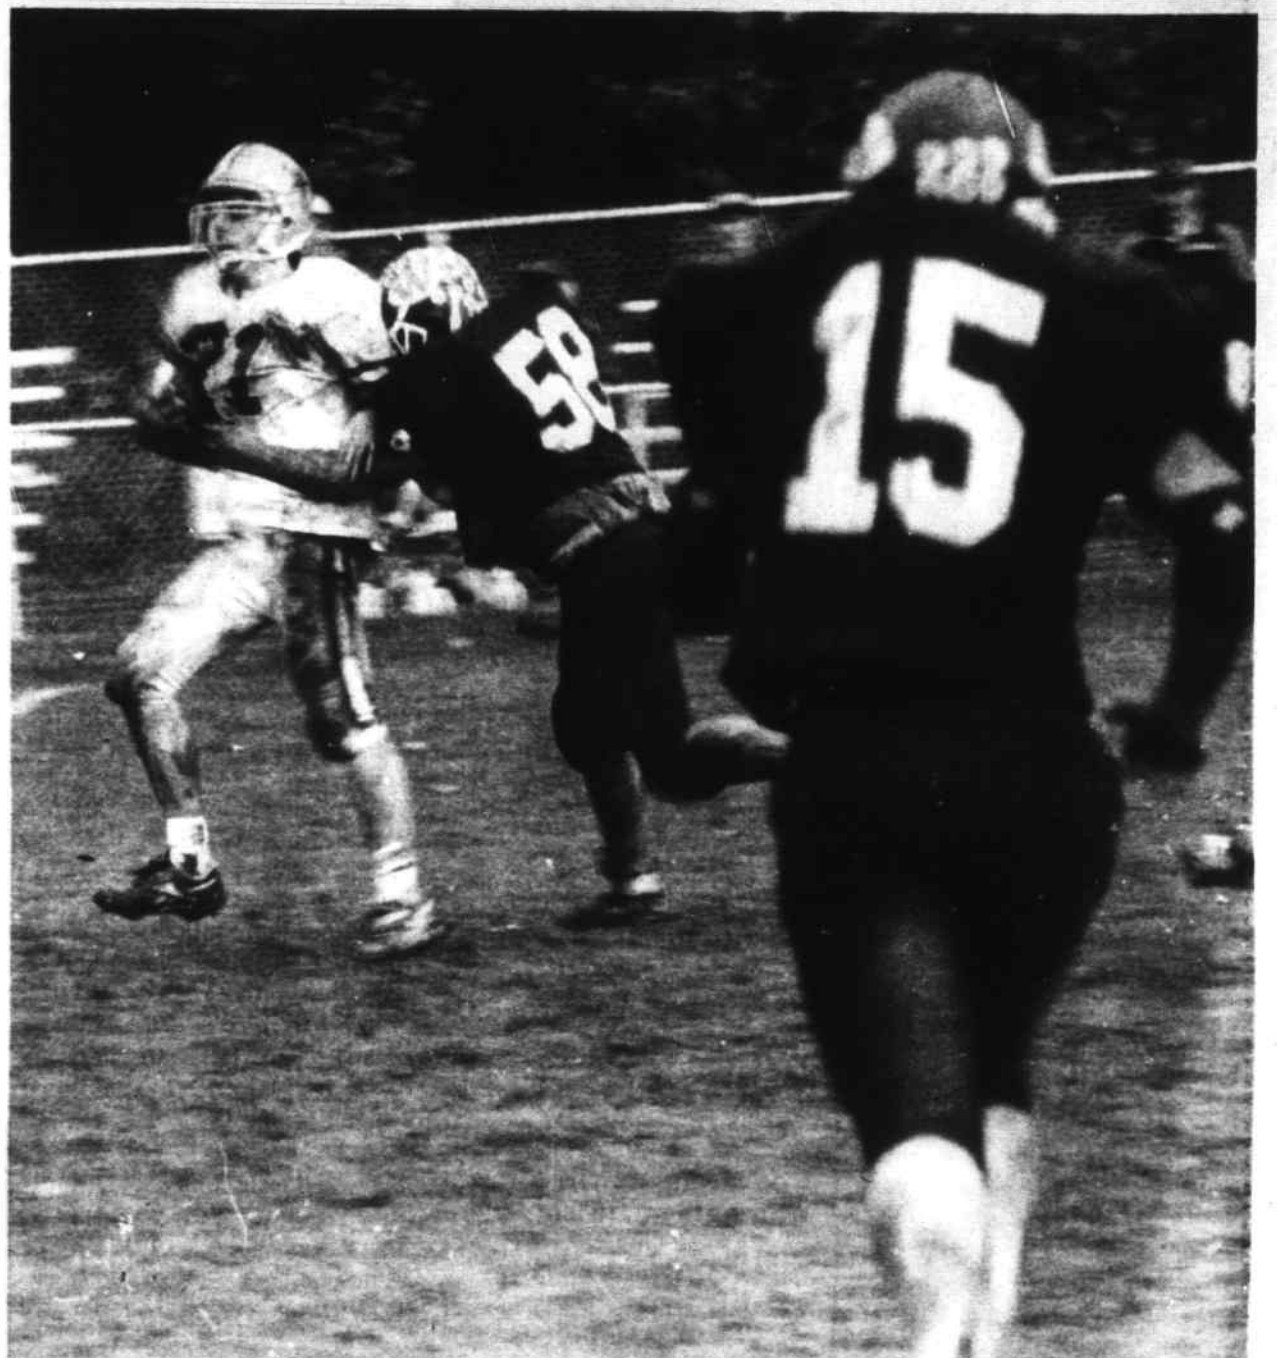

After Harrison's 72nd point of the season, H/W punted twice and Kerrigan punted once. With 6:52 left in the first half, Wilmington took over from a punt on the 50-yard line. Harrison started the series off with a one-yard gain. Kerrigan followed with a 13-yarder and a personal foul penalty against the Generals moved the ball to the H/W 20-yard line. Tim Gillis (2 carries for 22 yards) then found a hole through the middle for an 8-yard keeper play to set-up a second and two from the H/W 12. Harrison then took a pitch and he was tackled for a loss of four in the backfield and then Dick Gillis (7 carries for 26 yards) got the Cats back to the 12-yard line when he gained four yards on a carry. Wilmington was then penalized for a false start penalty, which really cost them as the ball was moved back to the 17. Kerrigan took the hand-off on fourth down and seven, and he was stopped at the 15-yard line.

Hamilton-Wenham then took over from their own 15, and they put together a 14-play drive that started with 4:26 left in the half - a Dick Gillis sack of quarterback Jason Waldron at the Wilmington 17 forced H/W to throw on fourth down to close out the half, but the pass was incomplete and Wilmington led 6-0 at the halftime break.

Both teams exchanged series in the third quarter and then Wilmington took over from a punt at their own 20-yard line with 5:29 remaining in the third quarter. After several small gains, Kerrigan's 22-yard pick-up with three H/W defenders on his back for about 10 yards was probably not only the highlight of the game, but one of the highlights of the season. Kerrigan's strong legs allowed Wilmington to

Nothing will get solved unless parents act like adults

I'm pretty upset. During the summer, I wrote a column saying how great the parents from the Tewksbury Little League All-Star teams were and how collectively they weren't "a typical moronic parent." I received a letter to the editor for that comment and I apologized for that comment - but this past week, I think I have every right to express my opinion about a "moronic parent."

A few weeks ago, I got a message from the Austin Prep Athletic Director to see if I could cover a big game for the Austin Prep girls varsity soccer team who had six girls from Wilmington on the team. I returned the call and left a message for the A.D. to fax over any information he could about the girls on the team.

The reason why I did that was there is no possible way I can cover any more than I possible do. During the fall season, I cover 17 teams, which includes writing a couple stories on the Shawsheen Tech Football team (only when I have more time and more space). In the winter season, I cover 13 teams and in the spring I cover 12 teams.

I'll be the first to admit that I should cover every team from Shawsheen Tech and not just the football team, but I just don't have the time or space. And I should cover Shawsheen Tech teams more because they are a public school, but time and space are a factor.

Besides Jeff Nazzaro covering Tewksbury football and Tewksbury hockey, I am by myself and I think I do a pretty good job of keeping up with the high school and youth sports scene in Wilmington and Tewksbury.

So anyway, after leaving the message with the Austin A.D., I received several messages from parents of the soccer team for me to cover the same game. I was never in the office when those messages came in and not once did I ever talk to any parent. I didn't return any of the phone calls because I knew I would end up arguing with the parents when I said I wasn't going.

Meantime, the Town Crier receptionist, Fran Marotta, told the parents (and she left two messages for the Austin Prep A.D.) to have something sent over to the paper on the girls - maybe a picture or a write-up from one of the parents. If that happened, no problem, it would get in the paper.

Usually when normal parents of student-athletes who attend other schools like to get something in on their son or daughter, they call me up and ask politely if I can cover the game and if I can't they ask me what can they do to help me out. Most parents understand that I can't be in four places at once, but for some reason several of these Austin Prep girls soccer parents don't understand that concept.

If I were to cover the Austin Prep girls soccer game, then I would get calls on why don't I cover teams from Bishop Fenwick, Phillips Academy, Presentation Of Mary Academy. Our Lady of Nazareth, St. John's Prep, The Pingree School, Central Catholic, Governor Dummer, Belmont Hill, The Pike School and whatever other schools out there kids from Wilmington and Tewksbury attend.

Now would it be fair for me to cover an Austin Prep girls soccer game that had six players on the team from Wilmington and not cover a Central Catholic hockey game that has three players from Tewksbury on it? No, it wouldn't be fair at all.

To continue my story, the General Manager of the Town Crier, Stu Neilson, gave me a message last week that another parent called and asked why there hasn't been any coverage on the team.

Then this past Friday really drove me over the edge. When I came into the office on Friday afternoon, Fran told me that she received a phone call from an Austin Prep soccer mom on Thursday. She said that the mother would not give her name, and wouldn't talk to me even though I was in the building (I was in the building attending our weekly staff meeting - apparently Fran didn't want to bother me).

The mother also was very upset according to Fran, telling her to thank me for nothing, thanks for promising them to cover them and not showing up and that she will never buy the paper again. Fran told this mother that it is physically impossible for me to cover anything more than Wilmington and Tewksbury High School sports. The mother went on to say that she is a taxpayer of this town and she has every right to get coverage on her daughter since she lives in Wilmington.

I have a couple of problems with that phone call. First, I hope in the future that if other parents or coaches or players have any problems with me, that they would ask for me and discuss the problem as an adult. Talking behind my back, telling lies and taking it out on someone who has nothing to do with the situation is very immature, to say the least.

Second, what in the world does being a taxpayer have to do with anything? True, this is the "town" paper for Wilmington and Tewksbury, but it is a private business.

And that's what this comes down to. I cover what I can, and do my best to accommodate those who help me when I can't cover something. Yelling and screaming through anonymous phone calls doesn't help anyone, least of all the kids who got zero coverage because some people refused to even try to be cooperative.

continue its drive with a first down at the H/W 46-yard line.

Penalties, again, hurt Wilmington as Harrison took a pitch from Tim Gillis and he raced down the left side-lines for a gain of 36 yards to continue this drive. A clipping call brought the ball back to the H/W 49. Now three plays later, on fourth down, Kerrigan clocked up 12 more yards to give the team another first down at the H/W 31. Harrison gained five on a draw play and the third quarter ended, with Wilmington still leading 6-0.

Kerrigan started the busy fourth quarter off with two carries for 9 yards. That set-up a second-and-seven from the H/W 17-yard line and on that play, Harrison scored his second TD of the game and his 13th of the season off the right tackle. Dick Gillis powered his way into the endzone for the two-point conversion, making it 14-0 with 9:00 left in the game.

The Generals went three-and-out and Wilmington took over on the the H/W 43 from a 29-yard punt. After an incomplete pass from Tim Gillis, the ball was moved back ten yards because of another Wildcat penalty. Tim Gillis then gained 14 on a keeper play and Harrison added 7 to get a first down at the H/W 32. Tim Gillis took the snap from Matt Haskmap on first down, and he had all of the time he needed, as he put a perfect pass right into the hands of Jamie Campbell, who was knocked out of bounds at the 2-yard line. After another false start penalty on Wilmington, Kerrigan made it 20-0 with a 7-yard carry into the end zone.

Hamilton-Wenham's Scott Wilfrey scored on a 20-yard reception, to make it 20-7 with the P.A.T. good with 16 seconds left in the game to end it, with the Cats winning 20-7.

Wilmington now travels to Pentucket on Saturday before coming home on Thanksgiving morning to face the 8-1 Tewksbury squad.

Mite B's

The Wilmington Mite B youth hockey team dropped its opening Valley League game losing to Newburyport, by a score of 6-4.

Wilmington started the game off right when on the opening face-off center Dana Steenbruggen won it and passed the puck over to Robby MacKinnon and the latter wne tin alone to score, making it 1-0 in favor of the Cats.

The Cats scored another goal a minute later on a nice defensive effort by Nicholas Yeomelakis to keep the puck in the zone. Yeomelakis then passed the biscuit to Danny Tobin who sent it to Mike Earls, who out it out front where Eric Svensson stuffed it by the Clipper goalie, making it 2-0.

Newburyport bounced right back with four unanswered goals to end the period and ahead, 4-2.

Newburyport started the second period off on the right foot with a quick goal to go ahead 5-2. Derek Flodin answered that with a goal on a nice pass, from Svensson to bring the Cats back to within two.

Wilmington received a tripping penalty which was killed off successfully by Zachary Church, Derek Sullivan, David Rizzo and Shane Foley. Newburyport would score another goal in the closing minutes of the second period.

The third period was up and down hockey played mostly in the neutral zone until Danny Tobin scored on a feed from Steven Stokes to bring Wilmington back within two again. Wilmington was accessed another tripping penalty and on that shortage of players netminder Chris Stafford came through with several clutch saves.

Stokes and Tobin would get another chance later in the period, but the game ended tied at four.

The next game for the B's will be Sunday, Nov. 17 at 6:00 a.m. in a valley league contest against the North Andover Mite A squad. After that the team has a short break until they play Nashua at 10:30 in a dual state game.

Mite A's get revenge on Tewksbury

There's an old adage in hockey, hard work, hard skating, out shoot the opponent 24-8 and you might be guaranteed a win!

Well the Wilmington Mite A youth hockey team proved just that as they repaid a 6-0 drubbing from Tewksbury two weeks ago with a 6-2 victory at Ristuccia November 9.

From the opening faceoff the blue and white came out flying. They were clicking on all cylinders as defenseman Stephen Petterson took the puck on his own blue line, rushed in and deked the goalie and put Wilmington up 1-0.

Just three minutes later Jason Buckley scratched and clawed for a well earned goal with the assist going to a hustling Scott Dunnett. A late goal from Tewksbury in the first made it 2-1.

With the start of the second period the Wildcats pressure continued. Defensemen Albert Fiorenza and Stephen Petterson kept the puck in as Scott Dunnett got the puck and shot it on net. Showing anything can happen as it deflected off a Tewksbury defenseman and off the goalie's helmet for the score!

Unfortunately two minutes later Tewksbury scored when Wilmington had trouble clearing the puck making it a 3-2 game. Finally after working hard all game, Scott Sferrazza tucked it away from out-standing passing from Mike Fay and Ray Gravelle.

The third period became a defensive show for Wilmington with Billy Schultes, Warren Fitzpatrick, Albert Fiorenza and Stephen Petterson stopping any threat that came near goalie Ray Bennett. Ray had a quite third period but when needed he stopped the quality shots superbly throughout the game. Hard work again by Scott Dunnett and Justin Roberts led to a Jason Buckley goal after Billy Schultes and Warren Fitzpatrick kept it in at the blue line.

A tired Wilmington squad still kept the pressure on throughout the period jumping on any and all loose pucks. Scott Dunnett tried to stuff the puck by their goalie and Justin Roberts was in position to knock it in for a great goal.

The 6-2 final puts the Mite A's at a 2-0 start early in the season. Go Mite A's!

Wilmington 11A soccer team finishes strong

The Wilmington girls 11A Youth Traveling soccer team finished its fall season 6-2-3 with some very impressive tournament victories.

The girls entered the North Andover Fall Tournament hoping to stay even with the competition and ended up winning two big games and finishing tied for fourth place.

In the first game against host North Andover Kara Bruce scored an early goal with a nice assist from Lauren Rappolli. North Andover later scored to tie the game and Shannon Fahey scored a blast from the top of the penalty box to secure the win 2-1 with Amanda Martinello getting the assist.

The second game was a defensive battle with Windham, N.H. as the Wildcat defense led by Allison Flynn at sweeper and wing defenders Jennifer Earls, Katie Riley and Emily Dorrance kept the potent Windham team from the attack. That set up the last minute heroics by Kara Bruce, who pounced on a rebound shot from Stefanie Gable and scored with 5 minutes left in the game to give the young Wildcats the win 1-0.

In the third game, a faster, stronger and older Davers team beat the girls, but the weekend was a success.

The girls took their success to the rest of the regular season with a victory over Somerville and two ties against Melrose and Burlington. Against Somerville Melissa Marques started off the scoring and Amanda Martinellos cored her first two goals for the season in a 6-0 route.

Also adding goals were Allison Flynn, Lauren Rappolli and Kara Bruce, and Kristin DaSilva turned in a strong game.

In the first scoreless tie against Melrose, Wilmington dominated from the start as the Wildcats had 20 shots at the net but couldn't buy a goal. Playing well in this game were Catherine Chin, Lisa Martinello and Andrea Athanasios.

In the 1-1 tie against Burlington, the girls were in their second game of the day and were short four players but they still managed to dominate the game.

Scoring the only goal of the day for Wilmington was Dawn DeRosa with Lauren Cushing assisting.

Late into the game Wilmington continued to apply the pressure for the insurance goal with Gina Ranno and Rachelle See leading the way. With less than one minute left Dawn DeRose was fouled and injured in the net but no call was made and Burlington scored with 10 seconds left in the open net with Dawn injured on the ground.

Mite C's continue hot pace

The Mite C team remained in first place with a 6-2 win over Amesbury this week. Amesbury started out fast and took a 1-0 lead in the first period that seemed to wake up the Cats as Shayne Pellerin scored his first of two goals on a nice fast play from Dan Metcalf and Rich LaVita.

In the second period, while shorthanded, defenseman Derek DeRosa took the puck and rushed up ice then passed to Vin See who sent Dan Silva in alone to score his first of two goals and give Wilmington a 2-1 lead at the end period two.

In the third period while the defense of Brian Garrett, Brad Fraser and very good goaltending of Kyle Abell kept Amesbury off the scoreboard the Cats got going.

Derek Griffin scored two quick goals on nice plays by Andrew Fish and Jim Murray. The Cats put the game away when Ralph Newhouse passed to Shayne Pellerin whose score made it 5-2.

Then Dan Metcalf made a nice play to Don Silva as he scored on a breakaway for the final 6-2 score. This runs the Cats unbeaten streak to seven games.

A clean, safe, Learning environment awaits children at the Gingerbread House Pre-school

At the Gingerbread House Preschool, our teaching philosophy is one of direct, traditional teaching in which the curriculum has a thematic base. We emphasize a positive approach to a child's first learning experience. Our main objective is for each child to gain intellectual, emotional, social and physical developmental growth through classroom curriculum and self-directed play.

Curriculum The curriculum at the Gingerbread House Preschool is thematic-based. Language arts, art, music, science and cooking, mathematics, dramatic play, social studies and physical education - both fine and gross motor, area all taught around a specific theme, weekly and bi-weekly. The children are exposed to different cultures, strengthening social relationships and understanding of others. They learn to share, and gain self-confidence and emotional control, through their social experiences at school.

The Gingerbread House Preschool Staff are Professional Early Childhood Educators. All teaching staff are experienced teachers, and hold a degree in Early Childhood Education. The teaching staff is carefully selected for their caring personality, and their commitment to The Gingerbread House philosophy of teaching. There is a low teacher-child ratio, the greatest of which will be one teacher to seven preschoolers.

It's that time again -- Pote's awards

by Jamie Pote
Well, it's time for my annual awards - it's pretty much the end of the fall season (can you believe it?) and this time I have added several new categories in both Wilmington and Tewksbury - several categories are different in the two towns, just to mix it up.

Wilmington Boys

Team MVP:

Billy Harrison, Football -- If he were bigger height-wise, he could easily play Division I ball next year - could be a really good D2 back.

Most Improved from '95:

Chris DiJulia, boys soccer -- The easiest choice I could possibly make. Chris really has stepped up his game and that's why he was chosen to the CAL All-Conference squad.

Most Improved from '96:

Dave DeAmato, Football -- The sophomore continues to get better and better in the secondary and on offense he does a fine job as a tight end blocking, and he has a great pair of hands to catch the ball.

Never stops, period:

Sean Kerrigan, Football -- Seeing him carry three or four defenders on his back several times this year proves that it takes a lot more than effort to stop him.

Watch out for these players next year: Dan Sweet, Dennis Ingram and Justin Vallas of the boys soccer team.

Most Underrated Player:

Brian McCarthy, Football -- At nose guard, McCarthy always gets the job done - that's why he was double and triple teamed against North Andover.

Best Individual Highlight

Watching Mike O'Toole score a touchdown, huh?

Tewksbury Boys Awards:

Team MVP:

Anthony D'Angelo -- Whether one, two, three or as many as six players mark him, he still makes them look silly and he still is the best high school soccer player I have ever seen (all due respect to my classmate and friend, John Lynch of Wilmington).

Most Improved from '95:

Larry Reed, X Country -- Another Bob MacDougall protégé.

Most Improved from '96:

Rock Barker, boys soccer -- Ever since he was moved to stopper-back, it became nearly impossible in the regular season to first get by him and then Dan Mahoney.

Freshman Award:

Kenny Goldman, X Country -- More on him below.

Best Highlight that I saw:

Matt Petros' amazing TD run against Central Catholic. He did everything and then some - too bad we don't have Keith Olberman to tell us about it.

Best Highlight that I didn't:

Kenny Goldman becoming the first wheelchair athlete ever in Massachusetts to earn a varsity letter.

Most Underrated Player:

Jim Callanan, Football -- It's pretty hard to understand how someone who weighs about 150 pounds soaked wet, holding a brick (just kidding, Jim), can demolish opponents like he does.

He is a smart player who is a lot of fun to watch.

Never stops, period:

Dave Shunamon, Football -- If you have seen him in action, you will know what I'm talking about.

Tewksbury Girls Awards:

Team M.V.P.

Jen Takach, X Country -- What hasn't she accomplished yet in either cross country or track? And she is just a junior.

Most Improved '95:

Lauren Previte, soccer -- It's simple - Previte became a great player from a good player.

Freshman Award:

Laura Petros, X Country -- Gee, this is odd - I'm writing about another talented Petros and another talented Tewksbury runner.

Most Underrated Player:

Alison Kinnon, F. Hockey -- A huge reason why the team finally made it to the state tourney.

Never stops, period:

Lindsay Madeiros, F. Hockey -- Madeiros, with her infamous 'A' in her last name, is what Tewksbury athletics are all about. An athlete who does not have all of the talent, but is an athlete who eats, sleeps and drinks the words "hustle and determination". And in the end, that is better than having all of the talent without the three necessities.

Wilmington Girls

Team MVP:

Melissa Mather, Soccer -- A tough choice, but when it is all said and done, this junior is not only a tremendous athlete, but she was one of the best goalies in the Cape Ann League, and she was among the team leaders in scoring, too.

Most Improved from '95:

Patrice Mendoza, Field Hockey -- Before the season started, no one knew who would be the team's goalie. Now everyone knows who their goalie is. She continues the impressive streak of this program having top of the line goaltending.

Freshman Award:

Lindsay Bruno, Lauren McCarthy, Meredith Cipriani, Jackie Ingram, Lynn Hurley, Alicia Paquin and Val Cwiekowski (hopefully I didn't forget someone) -- All of the freshmen who made a huge impact on the girls soccer team.

Never stops, period:

Julie Gillis, field hockey -- If she and Lindsay Madeiros were ever paired up against an entire team, I betcha the duo would win.

Thinking like a deer

by Ed Larkin

Every year the night before shotgun season opens the routine is the same. I check all the hunting equipment, pack a lunch, and set the clock for the move to the woods. Then comes trying to sleep, laying in bed thinking did I pack the right shells, map and compass, knife?

The planning and preparing is a necessary chore. If you've done homework, Massachusetts' shotgun deer season offers a solid chance to get a Whitetail Deer for freezer or wall. That's if you have done your homework.

This year's shotgun season begins on the 2nd of December and runs to the 14th of December in zones 1-11. In zones 12-14 it ends on the 7th of December. If you choose, you may also use a rifled slug barrel.

Back to the homework assignment. To better your chances on opening day, use the three S's and CF method: Sight in your shotgun, scout the area you're going to hunt, block your scent, look for Whitetail cover, and look for feeding areas.

You cannot kill if your gun does not shoot straight. I recently went on a hunting trip to Canada and when I arrived I again checked the sighting of my slug gun before I went into the woods. Much to my surprise, it was shooting all over the place. After checking the gun, I found out when I sighted the gun in, I used Winchester slugs. On the trip I brought Federal slugs and they simply would not shoot straight out of my gun. I was lucky. One of my hunting partners had an extra gun. Double check that your gun is zeroed before the season. I have found 50 yards is an ideal range for shotgun sighting.

Scout the area you are going to hunt. Once the bucks grow horns they get in deep. You should be looking for paths and trails that look well traveled. As the season gets closer pay attention to rub and scrapes. Deer are like humans in this one way: they will take the path of least resistance. While scouting, enter your hunting area at different locations. This gives you the advantage of seeing new paths while lessening the chance of spooking the deer out of your hunting area.

We smell terrible to deer. It is important to reduce the amount of human scent. Use a scent free soap on skin and clothes or wash your clothes in baking soda. If you look through the hunting catalogs, you can find scent containing clothing. Rubber boots are the best at keeping scent off the ground. If you prefer wearing leather boots, go with a spray scent on your boots.

If you are a stand hunter, try getting off the stand during the so-called unproductive hours and walk through some thick cover. Whitetails will lay low and stay still if they think it is unsafe to move. Follow paths into low lands, thickets, and swamps. As the season goes on you may have to search a little deeper.

Deer eat what is plentiful. It can change from week to week. Make notice of what foods are available to them in your hunting area. Once the rut starts, the bucks lose interest in eating but will follow the females to where they are eating. If the ground is covered with acorns, they will feed on those. If it is snow covered they may eat off the trees. Pay attention to where they are eating and set up your hunting plan around that area.

A couple of other thoughts, you are trying to understand the deer routine. Once the rut begins, the deer are not as predictable. Second, hunt your piece early and often. This gives you your best shot at getting your deer. If other hunters are in the area, you have the advantage of knowing the paths the deer travel. Also other hunters may force the deer to your stand. Try stalking if you are not getting any deer movement for a day or two, then return to your stand. You never know what they will do, so do not limit yourself to one plan.

Always pack for safety when going into the woods. Carry a small day pack with the follow items: Water, knife, water proof matches, space blanket, poncho, high energy foods, rope (for dragging), and some plastic gloves for gutting. Always unload your gun before climbing into your stand. Let someone know the time you will return from hunting and where you are hunting.

There are still two and a half weeks until opening day, not to late too do some homework. Doing your homework is a matter of integrating the process into other activities. While walking or hiking pay attention for tell tale signs. When I bird hunt I always keep an eye for droppings, bedding areas, and deer trails. These methods cannot guarantee you will get your deer, but they will better your chances. Good Luck.

Massachusetts has an abundance of good hunting areas. Contact the Division of Fisheries & Wildlife for more details our local office phone number is, 508-263-4347. If you are harassed while hunting call, 1-800-632-8075 or contact your state or local police. Hunter harassment is against the law.

THE LANGUAGE OF FINANCING

When you meet with a lender to apply for financing, you may feel as if you in a foreign country as the loan officer talks points, Regulation Z margins, PMI, and ARMs.

You are not alone if you feel left behind by loan terminology. Like many professionals, lenders use a highly specialized language. Don't hesitate to ask for a translation! This is especially true if you are investigating some of the more complicated loans with rates that can be adjusted periodically. As you consider the various loan options, find out what the interest rate will be and at what point the lender will commit to that rate. If the loan has an adjustable rate, be sure that you understand how often and by how much your payments can go up or down. Find out if the loan can be assumed by a future buyer. The lender isn't trying to confuse you. The mortgage process is complicated, so just keep asking questions until you understand.

The Blue team got its goals from Sarah Hubbard and Jacqueline Rubino, with the assists going to Lauren Whitfield and Heather Roberts.

The Eighth grade game saw another hat trick this time by Christina Desimone, as she led the Blue team to a 5-0 victory. Kim Gillespie and Julie Swartwout got the game's other goals. Assisting on the goals were Krista Wolfe, Caitlyn Bransfield and Molly Pidgeon.

The Wilmington Wildcat Field Hockey Association would like to recognize and thank its coaching and support staff without whom the season would not have such a success. The coaches: Big Blue was coached by Carol Mutchler and Mary Ann Gillis; the White Lightning by Kevin and Linda Veator; the Smashing Smurfs by Jay Irwin and Sally Torpey; the Angels by Doria Gearty; the Leprechauns by Paula Sughrue; the Red Devils by Susan Hardimon, Sharon Dunnett, and Jim Bransfield; the Yellow Jackets by Claire Cronin, and Jean Olson.

The support staff included Jack, Gail, and Jacqueline Holloway. Also last and certainly not least, sincere thanks to Jack Cushing for all he has done for the league.

Bantams IV squad can't get past Nashua

Game summary: The Tewksbury Bantam IV team and the Nashua Bantam III squad had a real battle in Dual State League parity round action and the final score does not reflect how even this match was.

The opening period was dominated by the Redmen who had several outstanding scoring opportunities but were thwarted by the lightning quick glove hand of Micci, the Panthers' goalie.

A hitting from behind minor forced Tewksbury to play short-handed but they successfully killed the penalty and the first period ended scoreless.

The first half of the second period was again dominated by the goalies. Only 30 seconds into the second period, Krysten Marche made a great kick save to keep the Panthers off the board.

Three minutes later, Nashua threatened again but Krysten's glove save frustrated the Panther. A collision at center ice sent Mike Beatrice in along for the Redmen but Micci came up big and it was Tewksbury's turn to feel frustrated.

With four and a half minutes to go in the middle frame, the puck was stolen from the Tewksbury defensemen and the Panthers' McGuire was alone in front of the net and he was able to lift the puck over a sprawling Marche to give Nashua a 1-0 lead.

A tripping penalty on Nashua gave the Redmen their first power play opportunity and they pounced on the opportunity scoring in only 12 seconds. Jr. Wareham fired a shot at Micci but Jason grey was on the doorstep and knocked in the rebound to even the score at one.

The Panthers' Madden weaved through the Tewksbury defense and scored with only five seconds left in the period and Nashua had an advantage that they never would relinquish.

In the first two minutes of the final period, the Panthers scored two additional goals. Ligor stole the puck from the Tewksbury defenseman and was alone out front for the score and a screened shot by Blais that Krysten never saw completed the scoring.

Tewksbury had several more scoring chances but the Panthers' Micci would not let the puck cross the goal line. It was a solid effort by he Redmen, but a costly one as Mike Beatrice had his hand broken during the contest and will be missed by his teammates as he recuperates.

Game summary: The Tewksbury Bantam IV team was simply overmatched as a Dual State League parity round game against the Groton Bantam II squad. Groton's Kenny Ryan scored in the first minute of play and Groton would never look back. Goals by Jay Nealy and Eddie Odell were also scored in the first period as Groton built a 3-0 advantage by the end of the first period.

Credit must be given to the Redmen team as they never quit and continued to battle hard to stay with this strong Groton team. Early in the second period, persistent hustle and desire by Tim Stevens resulted in a nice feed to Jr. Wareham who was able to beat the Groton goalie for what would prove to be the only Tewksbury score of the contest.

However, Nealy and Odell both scored again in a three minute span and Groton enjoyed a five to one lead after two periods. The score remained that way until very late in the game when Nealy and Odell both registered their hat tricks by scoring while their team was two men short.

Earning the three stars for the game for Tewksbury: number three star to Tim Stevens for outstanding hustle in the offensive end, number two star to Krysten Marche for numerous saves in net, and the number one star of the game goes to John O'Leary for his excellent defensive efforts throughout the game.

Bantams

Saturday's Valley Youth Hockey League game at the Ristuccia Rink was quite a contest and ended as it started with two teams evenly matched going down to the buzzer, with The Tewksbury Bantam IV youth hockey squad scoring with less than two minutes left to tie the game at three apiece.

The first period started with both teams going hard end-to-end with plenty of good checking and at 5:32 North Andover scored. The period continued with both defenses working hard and as the period ended N. Andover was on top, 1-0.

The second period got off to a slow start as N. Andover scored at 11:10 and Tewksbury's defense hardened and they answered back with a score at 7:08 by Richie Enos, and pin point passing from Chase Wells.

The period continued its rapid pace and at 1:12 Tim Bowden scored with excellent passing by Jason Grey and Kevin O'Neil. As the period wound down both teams were tied at the buzzer, 2-2.

The third period was even more defense at both ends, and these two titans fought hard, as the lines were changed, the pace of the game was taking its toll. Then out of nowhere No. Andover had a break, a three on two and before anyone could take a breath, N. Andover took the lead.

Tewksbury never gave up as the pace could go no higher, when with 1:21 Matt Ginsburg had an end to end rush, as he scored, unassisted. As the period wound down the play became even more intense, but when the game buzzer sounded they were tangled in a tie, 3-3.

Although the game was hard fought, the maven of the net, Krysten Marche was superb. The good end-to-end play was helped by some hard skating from Rick Reid and Matt Burke, and the support of the defense from Adam Rooney and Greg Marche helped them out of some tight spots.

Mite B's win close one

The Tewksbury Mite B youth hockey team took on Cambridge in Valley league play this past Saturday, coming home with a 2-1 victory.

Although the Redmen dominated for most of the game, they had to hang on for the one goal difference as they couldn't turn offensive pressure into quality shots on goal.

John Hyslip netted both Tewksbury goals and goalie C.J. Walsh permitted only one Cambridge tally on a clean breakaway. The winners also got fine play from Matt Wilkie, T.J. Strong and the hustling Chris Freeman.

Facing a less than envious schedule of three games in 20 hours from Sunday afternoon to Monday morning, the Tewksbury Bantam B youth hockey team won the District 10 Championship in style by defeating arch rival Medford 8-5 in the finals.

First year coaches Rex Crowley and Billy Flynn are to be congratulated for getting the team to play tough, but disciplined, two way hockey since the start of the season.

The first game saw the Redmen easily out skate the Somerville Sabres by a final score of 7-1. Jeff Lyons and Tim Scallely had two goals each. Kevin Leonard and Brian Smart were the other marksmen. Bobby Fitzmaurice dished out a pair of assists and single helpers went to Jeff Ossinger, Billy Surran and Justin Marino. Rich Sweeney and Justin Fraser led a tight defense in front of net minders Brian Losh and Kevin Chambers.

Although Tewksbury wasn't as sharp in their second game. They came out on top of a 3-1 match against Northern Middlesex. Good goaltending again by Losh and Chambers kept Tewksbury in the game.

Down 1-0 halfway through the game, sparkplug Bobby Fitzmaurice sandwiched a pair of goals around a Brian Smart tally to send the Redmen on their way to a showdown with Medford in Monday's championship game.

The championship game was a roller coaster of a ride for the eventual champs as they saw a quick 3-0 lead, on goals by Derek Gardiner, Jeff Lyons and Thomas McNeil melt into a 4-3 deficit.

Good discipline paid off though when some hot handed Mustangs paraded into the penalty box in the second and third periods and Tewksbury made them pay, getting consecutive power play goals from Sean Walsh, Brian Smart and Kevin Leonard to take back the lead.

Plenty of assists were earned on the goals; two by Jeff Lyons and solos by Smart, Justin Marino, Rich Sweeney and Jeff Ossinger. Two more unassisted goals by Smart (with a Medford goal in between) earned him a hat trick and gave the championship to Crowley and Flynn's squad.

Also giving the team a hand for its winning ways was Steve Davos, an injured player whose leadership help push the team over the hump.

Bantam III's light the lamp, more than once

Tewksbury 15
No. Reading 2

In a recent Dual State parity round game, North Reading II proved to be no match for the Tewksbury Bantam III team. North Reading surprised Tewksbury goalie, Jason Chotkowski at the 11 minute mark of the game, but remained there until the third period when they slipped one past goalie Mike O'Connor.

First period goals for Tewksbury were scored by Kenny Countie (two), David Buntin, and Ronnie Olson, assisted by Buntin, Rick O'Leary and Brett Schettino.

Already leading 4-1 after the first period, the game was blown wide open in the second period. Nine unanswered goals were scored by Tewksbury as follows:

David Buntin (two goals, giving him the hat trick and one assist), Joe Lefebvre (one goal, one assist), Chris Beek (one goal); Craig DeSisto (one goal, one assist); Ronnie Olson (one goal, one assist); Ken Countie (one more goal, giving him a hat trick and three assists); Brett Schettino (one goal); Eric Olsen (one goal); Fred Clark (four assists); Jonathan Walsh (one assist); goaltender Jason Chotkowski (one assist); and Rick O'Leary, (one assist).

In the third period, the 14th and 15th goals were scored by Joe Lefebvre, assisted by David Ferreira and O'Leary, and by Eric Olsen, assisted by DeSisto and Ron Olson.

Tewksbury 3 Methuen 0

In the Valley League regular season opener, Tewksbury Bantam III posted an impressive win over Methuen II. With remarkable goaltending by Jason Chotkowski, and strong defensive play by Ken Countie, Matt Harriman, Rick O'Leary, and Chris Beek, Tewksbury was able to hold on against an evenly matched opponent.

The first goal of the game was scored a minute and a half into the game by Ken Countie, assisted by Ryan Carrigan.

As both teams had chances to score halted by superb goaltending, it was not until the 8:35 mark of the third period when David Buntin was fed by Brett Schettino and Fred Clark to bring the lead to 2-0. With only 12 seconds left in the game, Schettino put the icing on the score with a final Tewksbury goal, assisted by Buntin.

If this Tewksbury - Methuen game was any indication of future matchups, the coaches and parents are in for many more nailbiters. This was a remarkable goalies' duel.

Pee Wee B's finish parity round

At the end of a tough parity round the Tewksbury PeeWee B Youth Hockey team finished at a record of 7-8.

The hot line for the B's has been Jason Tombarello with 9 goals and 13 assists; Marc Bristol with 10 goals and 8 assists and Jimmy Scanlon with 4 goals and 8 assists.

With their second line just as hot Chris McLellan scoring 9 goals and 7 assists, Bob Giasullo 5 goals and 5 assists and Kevin Zimmerman 5 goals and 4 assists.

With both lines working hard on offense, Dennis Keohane, 1 goal, 2 assists, Adam Butland 3 assists, Ryan Fitzmaurice, 1 goal, 2 assists, Mike Ferrick, 4 goals, 7 assists and Jim Broderick 1 goal, 4 assists, have mounted a solid defense.

In goal for the Redmen is Rich Chambers who has been the anchor of this team. Facing some games as many as 45 shots and making some spectacular stops. Good luck in the regular season!

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

EXPLOSION & FIRE INSURANCE

QUESTION: When is loss from an explosion covered by your fire insurance policy?

ANSWER: Take the case where a fire occurs and causes an explosion of gas. Such a loss is recognized as a fire loss under the fire insurance policy. The fire is the cause of the loss. There would have been no explosion had there been no fire.

However, if an explosion is independent of any preceding fire, the explosion damage is not covered by fire insurance. If the explosion starts a fire, any ensuing fire damage is covered by the fire policy. The fire policy may be extended to cover explosion losses. Then, the question makes no difference. You're covered both ways.

FIRE INSURANCE AND EXPLOSION INSURANCE are two different coverages.

EXOTIC Pets

By DOUG
WOOD-BOYLE

Snake tales have been on people's minds of late with the capture of the lost Egyptian Cobra in Stoneham. However, the question comes to mind about why people keep such an exotic, and dangerous, pet and what others are out there?

A look in local pet stores such as Wakefield's Ox Bow Pet Shop, 335 Albion Street, and Wilmington's Wilmington Pet Shop, 634 Main Street, shows that a number of not so dangerous but very exotic pets are available for those people that truly want something different.

Eddie Curran, owner of the Ox Bow, said, "It is usually people who are different that want the dangerous pets."

She described most of her inquiries about snakes as coming from men in their 20's.

However, it has been Curran's experience that within a year, a pet will have grown to such a size that the purchaser will be looking to sell it back to the shop. Ox Bow does not deal in snakes but does have frogs and iguanas among their hamsters and exotic brightly colored birds.

At Wilmington Pet Shop, manager Steve McQuade said

THIS EGYPTIAN COBRA was on the loose, in Stoneham, for several months before being found in a classroom at the Robin Hood Elementary School, across the street from where it was being kept. Although small in size the snake is highly poisonous. It took an environmental policeman, a herpetologist and the owner of the snake to recapture it. The case is still under investigation but the snake is in the custody of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Department.

that the customer can get snakes that are no longer poisonous, such as a Ball Python, and others that are not poisonous such as a Boa Constrictor or the common garden snake.

Iguanas and lizards, of all types as well as ferrets and hedgehogs are also available in the store.

As Anthony Ferrari of

531 Main Street, Reading • (617) 944-2200
Stoneham, owner of the Cobra, might find out there are a number of fines and other penalties that could be involved. As the state's Department of Fish and Wildlife Management Specialist Robert Arini explained, any one owning a poisonous snake, such as the Egyptian Cobra, needs a permit.

"You can count on one hand," Arini said, "the number of people in Massachusetts that have the permit."

In fact it would take only two fingers of that hand to complete the count.

According to Arini, the permits are not for people looking to keep a dangerous pet.

Environmental Police Sergeant Linda Thomas explained that both state and federal laws could come into play with those that violate the permit law. In Massachusetts the law calls for a non-criminal citation resulting in a $50 fine.

However, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Department, which Environmental Police are also deputies of, can act under the Lacey Act which forbids the transporting over state lines of an animal that is prohibited in the state it is being brought too. Sgt. Thomas said that the penalty can be a misdemeanor or a felony or a civil complaint depending on the severity of the case.

The list of animals, birds and fish that require a permit is long. It includes poisonous snakes in which an anti-venom is not readily available (according to one source an anti-venom for the cobra had to be flown in when it was learned in August that the snake had escaped while it was sunbathing).

Reliable pet store operators or the Department of Fisheries and Wildlife will be able to provide the list of pets needing permits. Not allowed are such fish as piranha and snakes such as cobras and aspids etc.

Concert Review

New England String Ensemble delightful

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

The New England String Ensemble once again delighted their audience during the second of six concerts planned for the year.

This concert featured another world premiere piece that was commissioned by the orchestra and written by Emmanuel Feldman. It also featured the debut performance of two young sisters, Lorna and Gina Tsai of Marlborough, who won the Ensembles "Youth Concerto Competition."

Feldman is the principal cellist of the Ensemble and sits in the George Bumstead Chair.

His new piece Synergy for String Orchestra can best be described as full of the unexpected. It kept the listeners' attention every second.

The Allegro is both soothing and disquieting simultaneously. It is very dramatic and ends leaving the listener wanting more.

The more comes with the Largo, which contains beautiful interludes of just the cello, viola and one bass. It is haunting in quality.

In stark contrast to the ending of the Largo is the beginning of the Presto. A beginning which can only be described as wow!

Lorna Tsai, 13, on Violin and Gina Tsai, 12, on cello presented Antonio Vivaldi's "Concerto in Bb for Violin and Cello, Opus 22, Number Two" as if they had been playing with a professional ensemble for years.

The pair seemed to pass cues to each other as if they were silent signals that only members of the same family could understand.

The Andante was particularly poignant. However, both sisters shone individually during the Allegro molto.

Conductor Christophe Chagnard showed his talent during Edward Grieg's "Suite in Old Style" by capturing the dynamics of the piece.

The sometimes subtle contrasts were remarkable.

The Cello solos and duets during the Andante were deep and rich.

The night started with George Frideric Handel's "Concerto Grosso, Opus Six Number One."

As in the past, the soloists showed that they were at one with the music.

The musicians built the Adagio to a fever pitch leaving the listeners on the edge of their seats. The energy during the Allegro was high as each musician sent the clear message that they too were enjoying the piece.

If you have not had an opportunity to hear the Ensemble as yet, order your tickets now for one of two Christmas Concerts in this area. The first will be on Saturday, December 7 at 8 p.m. in Stoneham Town Hall. Jazz Harpist Deborah Henson-Conant will be the guest artist.

The second is a special concert with the choirs of St. Joseph's Church and St. Joseph's Parish School, in the Church. The concert will take place Sunday, December 8 at 2 p.m.

Local art enthusiasts will have the opportunity to meet Davis Carroll on Saturday and Sunday, November 16 and 17, from 1-5 p.m. at Prestige Gallery (Rte. 1 north) Danvers.

Davis Carroll

Davis Carroll brings a unique background to his art. A lifelong New Englander, Carroll's paintings of flowers, landscapes and street scenes, characteristically reflect the harmony and tradition of his native region.

A graduate of the Massachusetts College of Art, and a respected member of the American Watercolor Society, and the New England Watercolor Society, Carroll spent 12 years as an artist and designer with some of Boston's most prestigious advertising firms while developing his unique and original style.

In 1969, encouraged by the warm reception accorded his paintings in shows throughout New England, and driven by a restless and demanding creativity, Carroll resigned his position as Art Director and turned to the full-time pursuit of his personal esthetic goals. Today, having pioneered a number of innovative techniques with watercolor, silkscreen, and lithography, he continues to expand his artistic horizons.

Exotic Pets

From S-1

Thomas said that the list is periodically reviewed and some animals are deregulated while others are added to it. "We are hoping in the future for a serious review of the restrictions on the possession of venomous snakes," Thomas said.

"I would like to see harsher fines or penalties." As an example of the review process of the permit list, Thomas noted that Ferrets are now allowed to be kept as pets. However, they have to be immunized and descended by a veterinarian with the documents of such procedures being kept by the seller of the animal.

McQuade notes that the animals make excellent pets. When you first look at them they are "cute and cuddly little animals."

McQuade said, "They are very affectionate and easily trained."

According to McQuade the ferret needs daily attention, especially if it has a tendency to bite. He said that a half-hour per-day would make it secure enough to know that no harm will come to it.

They feed on dry cat food or specially prepared ferret food that comes in packages. According to McQuade, the animal is best kept in a room of its own.

He warns that the skeletal structure of the animal is very soft and pliable so that owners should take care that it does not escape through small openings.

The ferrets sold at Wilmington Pet come neutered and still need a final rabies shot. Because they are related to minks and skunks they have a very soft fur.

They also require more bathing than a dog or cat.

The ferret is a nocturnal animal that likes to sleep during the day. However, unlike the hedgehog, another nocturnal animal, Ferrets will wake during midday and are ready to play.

"They are a great family pet," McQuade said.

The hedgehog is another pet available at Wilmington Pet. It does sleep all day and is not active until the nighttime hours. During its sleep it rolls into what looks like a ball of fur and could easily be mistaken for a rather round rock from a distance.

At Ox Bow, birds are the specialty, although they have frogs and some lizards.

Curran showed a pair of nicely colored gray and yellow cockatiels. She is also proud of her green feathered parrot that has trims of yellow.

According to Curran, the birds like temperatures of 60 degrees (fahrenheit) but they cannot take cold drafts. The bird she has in the store has a very good vocabulary but would not speak on the record during the interview.

Curran also sells African Gray Parrots which she says have a long life span and could out live the owner.

Both stores deal in frogs and hermit crabs.

The crabs are land animals that need a shell to live in. They will change to larger shells as they grow in size.

Curran showed some Firebelly Frogs that live on land but like to go into the water, so their terrariums have to be set up with a little pool. African frogs live in the water but need land to climb onto.

On the lizard side, McQuade has a number of different types in the store. He recommends the Sudan Plated Lizard for those that are seeking affection from their exotic pet. The lizard is very docile and likes to climb over people and be rubbed.

It comes from a semi desert environment and needs a dry heat to be comfortable.

Most of the other lizard types should only be admired behind glass as they tend to bite.

Although some lizards can be tamed, McQuade advises they be bought when they are only a month old but already 18 inches in length.

The age is before they develop attitudes but the size insures they will be healthy when they grow.

For those people that really want a snake, be prepared to have a pet that is unpredictable with bad moods. The snakes should be kept in environments that replicate the areas they come from, which usually means temperatures of about 75 to 80 degrees and a high humidity.

Snakes feed on live mice. The Ball Python will make a quick clean kill of its prey. However, the Boa will play with it until it tires of the hunt and wraps itself around the food until it is crushed.

The humidity is important to the development of the snake as it helps the snake to shed its skin in one piece instead of a patchy shedding pattern.

Boa Constrictors are very affectionate animals and like to crawl on humans. They are in no way slimy. In fact their skin feels like a silky material.

Curran notes that ant farms are on the comeback among young people. She and her mother, Priscilla Foss, the previous owner of the store, said that young people who have ant farms or frogs as pets know the amount of work that goes into the care of exotic animals and are more likely to have a normal pet when they grow up.

About The Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

The Magic Kingdom revisited

'Extremely important and momentous'

"The Wakefield Housing Authority have adopted a new criteria for admission to state-aided housing programs," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"A reflection of federal standards, these state regulations went into effect Aug. 9, and the housing authority board approved them."

"There is a change regarding net family assets and income limits."

"This is extremely important and momentous," Executive Director of Wakefield's Housing Authority Mary Sweeney said. "People have come into the office and gone away without applying because of the (old) regulations."

"There are no asset limitations for those applying for public housing. In the past, Sweeney said assets deterred some from applying for or being accepted for public housing."

"As of Aug. 9, no resident could be turned down because of assets."

"Rent is set at 30 percent of adjusted total income."

"The net income limits have changed as well. For a one person household in Wakefield, the limit is $29,110 and a two family is $33,300. Other income limits can be obtained through the Wakefield Housing Authority."

"It's definitely a help for applicants and it's definitely a help for housing authorities. It makes it a lot easier to explain it to the customers (because of clearer language used)," Sweeney added.

'Here they come now'

"Prior to the start of a recent meeting, Selectmen Chairman Brad Jones Jr. was telling his fellow board members about the great time he had in Disney World when someone changed the subject to the School Committee," notes a "Townscript" in the "North Reading Transcript."

"Speaking of the Magic Kingdom, here they come now," said T. A. Tom Younger in a nicely timed segue."

Downtown declared decadent

"The easterly part of downtown was declared decadent by the Board of Selectmen ... in order to access some federal funds to develop the area," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"We are not having a great time calling an area of the town blighted, but it's a way to shake some money loose," Selectman Bruce MacDonald explained to the many residents and business owners on hand to support, oppose or gain information about the proposal given to the BOS by Town Planner Jonathan Edwards.

"Because the BOS declared the area blighted, as Edwards had proposed, the town can now seek grant funds for improvements."

"The federal funds sought by cities and towns to improve blighted areas mostly apply to a certain demographic area that Reading does not fit into. Two federal grants, however, Community Capital fund and Business Development Fund, Reading can, and has an application in to, access."

"The Business-B Zoning District bounded on the west by Main Street, on the south by Green Street, on the north by Union Street, and on the east by the boundary of said Business-B district was declared blighted and therefore eligible for grants on the basis that:

"This area contains a substantial number of deteriorated or deteriorating buildings;

"These buildings are in need

of major maintenance or repair; "Portions of these buildings have not been in use; "There has been an adverse substantial change in the area's economic conditions; "The pattern of lot sizes and shapes in the area are not conducive to the provision of required on-site parking; and "These conditions, among others, have become detrimental to the safety, health, morals, welfare or sound growth of the Reading community."

"Referring to an area as blighted can have some negative connotations, some building owners told the BOS....We'll be happy to work with everyone so it will be a win-win situation for everyone involved," Edwards said. "All of the town projects (including the yet to be approved Streetscape grant and the Downtown Steering Committee's work) can work together."

P.S. The 'Streetscape' grant has been approved. More later.

A capacity crowd of all ages enjoyed the wide variety of art exhibited in Stoneham recently. The 3rd Annual Captured Wildlife Art Exhibit showcased the exceptional work of artists from all over New England.

The New England Herpetological Society of Boston and Michelle's Menagerie of Tewksbury provided live animal presentations, plus several artists were also present talking to visitors while demonstrating their talents.

The event was sponsored by National Coalition for Early Childhood Professionals, Inc. (NCECP) an all-volunteer, non-profit organization based in Stoneham, and received support from Stoneham Arts Council and Massachusetts Cultural Council.

First Place Winners who were selected by a panel of judges included: Christina Carroll of Medford for Printmaking; Steve Greco of Carlisle for Acrylic; Joyce Lozzi of Wakefield for Watercolor; Alison Lynch of Winchester for Mixed Media; Richard Salvucci of Brighton for Oil and Drawing; Lana Reeves of Somerville for Sculpture and Maryellen Cole of Reading for Photography.

above). "We will meet this challenge through the development of learning standards for each course at the Wynn Middle School, the alignment of the grade level standards for the elementary curriculum in the areas of language arts, mathematics, science and social studies and the implementation of a new system wide writing program, a new grade nine science program and an updated middle school health curriculum. All of these initiatives are directed at aligning the Tewksbury Public School Curriculum with the newly established Massachusetts Department of Education Curriculum Frameworks.

placement course options for Tewksbury Memorial High School will be researched for implementation in September of 1997.

"We will continue our efforts to increase students' ability to access modern technology through the implementation of the school district five year technology plan and the application of technology through a career and educational planning system at the High School.

classrooms. This Center will provide an alternative to the out of school suspension."

"Goals in this area support the commitment of the school district to providing activities which welcome the community into our schools," continues Tewksbury Superintendent of Schools Christine McGrath (please see above). "Specific initiatives in this area will include the expansion of the Extended Day Program to meet the needs of parents during the school year and summer vacation periods. We will continue to provide training programs for parents and concerned citizens on strategies for developing effective home school partnerships. The first series for the 1996-1997 school year has been scheduled for September of 1996. An intramural program will be established with a primary focus on developing activities for middle school students."

and school facilities," continues McGrath (please see above). "Goals for the 1996-1997 school year include the development of a new, daily schedule for the instructional program at Tewksbury Memorial High School and the preparation of the two year progress report for our ten year accreditation. The High School received a full ten year accreditation by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges following their evaluation of our high school conducted in March of 1995.

"A key goal in this area is the continued effort to develop short term and long term housing plans for the school district. The short term plan will address the relocation of the North Street Center School kindergarten program and the offices of the central administration. The long term plan will involve the development of plans and specifications for a new elementary school in concert with the School Building Committee.

"Finally, we will continue our work in the area of personnel evaluation. The recently adopted teachers evaluation system will undergo the second and final phase of field testing. The newly developed administrative evaluation tool will undergo the initial year of field testing. Both of these tools were developed in accordance with the new standards for professional performance from the Massachusetts Department of Education.

"We are proud of the goals which have been met and the accomplishments which have been achieved during the first four years of the strategic plan. We look forward to meeting the challenges of the 1996-1997 system wide goals. Copies of the system wide goals are available through the Office of the Superintendent of Schools at 139 Pleasant Street, Tewksbury."

Middlesex East Sports Athletes & Activities

BY PAUL FEELY

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: Who are the only two boxers to capture the heavy-weight title three different times in their careers? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•Stoneham's MIKE DOHERTY scored what would prove to be the game-winning goal for UMass-Dartmouth over Plymouth State College during the Pepsi Invitational Hockey Tournament. The shot came midway through the first period, and the team eventually went on to win the tournament.

•Tewksbury's KIMBERLY SANFORD, a sophomore, is a member of the UMass-Lowell varsity tennis team. Sanford and her partner, playing second doubles, helped the Lady Riverhawks place third overall in the New England Collegiate Conference championships by defeating New Haven 6-0, 6-0, to advance their team into the final round. The duo eventually lost to SUNY-Albany, the conference champions, 3-6, 4-6.

•North Reading's MICHELLE CAMERON finished out the season as the top scorer for the UMass-Dartmouth women's soccer team. She finished with four goals and two assists for 10 points, which placed her in a tie for 10th place in overall scoring in the Little East Conference.

•Registration forms are still being accepted (but not for much longer) for the seventh annual Northeast Preseason Hockey Conditioning Camp for both boys and girls enrolled in grades 9-12. The camp will take place from November 25-30 at the Kasabuski Arena in Saugus. Call Ed White at 617-246-0227 for more information.

•Nominations to the Winchester Hall of Fame are being accepted up until December 1. To be eligible, a candidate must have been a graduate of Winchester High for at least 10 years. All nominations should be sent to the Winchester Sports Foundation, Maria Montouri, 1 Winchester Place, Winchester, Ma 01890.

•Wilmington's KRISTIN THOMAS scored the winning goal for the Cushing Academy varsity field hockey team during a recent game against Stoneleigh Burnham. The goal came on a corner shot, and helped the team post a 5-1-3 record.

•Need some clues to help out with the above-mentioned trivia question? A very recent upset win helped one fighter achieve this record-holding status.

•The annual Burlington High School Alumni Association Flag Football Tournament is coming up Saturday, November 30, from 10 am until 1 pm. The cost is $10 per player, and the event will take place at Burlington High School. All proceeds will benefit the Alumni Scholarship Fund at Burlington High School. Players will be matched up as close to their year of graduation as possible, and anyone seeking more information should call Chris Brooks at 272-2649 or David Hanafin at 273-9588.

•Wilmington's JENNA NEALE has been a starting midfielder for the Hartwick College field hockey team this fall, which is ranked fourth in the country in Division III and recently received an automatic bid into the NCAA Division III Tournament by winning the New York State Division III Field Hockey Championship. Neale had an assist in the championship game.

•The Tewksbury Memorial High School volleyball made its first-ever appearance in the state tournament, but lost in three straight sets to Dracut in the opening match.

•The Eastern Massachusetts Cross Country Championships were held over the weekend, and several local runners had fine finishes. In Division 2, Wakefield's SHAWN WALLACE placed fifth at 16:38, while his team placed fifth with 167 points. Reading placed ninth with 275 points.

The two boxers are Muhammad Ali and Evander Holyfield, who won his third heavyweight title by defeating Mike Tyson in a stunning 11th round TKO this past Saturday. Congratulations to those that answered the question correctly, and look for this space next week to find another sports-related trivia question.

DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please mail it to: Paul Feely, Middlesex East Sports, P.O. Box 240, Reading, MA., 01867, or call Paul at 617-944-2200 between 7 am and 3:30 pm, Monday through Friday.

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

Paul Rao said to me, "Chipper I don't mind being retired, BUT it's drinking Coffee on my own time that really bothers me!" "You have no 'grounds' to complain," I told him, "Maybe this will, 'perk' you up? At least you are NOT paying almost a dollar for a cup of 'mud'!"

Most of you I am sure, have seen how a magnet attracts a nail. Well folks, there are many people who I know have 'Magnetic Personalities' that 'Draw' people to them. They have that certain 'Warmth' that seems to say 'Welcome Friend, I'm happy to see you.'

That invisible but powerful force in an individual is called, Charisma. Some of the many people I know who have that wonderful attribute are, Marty McDonough, Juanita Haas, Ninuci Belmonte, Kathy Aloupis, Bob Bonney, Nancy Cianino, Bill Burton, Ellen Kelley, Jimmy Arigo, Arlene Dadley and, more later...

I remember when my Uncle

John Shea told a girl he was dancing with, "if you don't give me a kiss I'll die." Well, she didn't kiss him and indeed my Uncle John died 75 years later.

Many husbands find it nerve-racking teaching their wives to drive a car. So, driving schools are a God-send. The instructor told Kathy, "Please remember, Stop on Red, Go on Green and for God sakes Slow Down when I turn White!"

When I was going to school, most of my classmates would bring, 'apples' to the teacher. However, with my puns, quips and jokes, I used to send my teachers, 'bananas.'

At a recent class reunion, Miss Sullivan (one of my former teachers) sent a telegram saying, "Good Luck I am now enjoying retirement in San Fransico, in the Bay area. Tell Woodchips if he visits California, I would like to see him, Drop in!"

My cousin Angelo Quagenti called the police reporting that while walking in his garden in the dark, he was hit on the head. Officer John Daigle was dispatched and he solved the problem when he stepped on the 'rake' too.

Joey Adams said, "Children are a great comfort in our old age and they help us get Old Faster."

Blackie Vega took his dog to obedience school. After six weeks the dog graduated but Blackie had to repeat the course.

The following is for those who like to solve problems. A father and his son were in a terrible automobile accident, unfortunately the father was killed and the boy was rushed to the nearest hospital where the surgical team was alerted. The young boy was wheeled into the operating room where the surgeon took one look and exclaimed, "I can't operate, this is my 'son'!" (the answer will be at the end of the column).

When George Gould was a letter carrier, he saw a young boy (about five years old) trying desperately to reach a doorbell button. George dashed up the steps and gave the doorbell a generous push. "Gee thank mister," the kid said, "now let's run like heck!"

I asked John Nowak "Do you want to contribute something for the 'Old Ladies Home'?" "Sure," he replied. "Take my mother-in-law." "That's not a bit funny John," I told him. "My mother-in-law likes me better than my wife does." "I'm not a bit surprised," Johnny shouted, "look who you took off her hands."

When I first was introduced to Cosmo DiLiegro, I shook his hand and said, "you look very familiar to me." Cosmo smiled and said, "my mother tells me that every time she sees me."

The teacher told Jackie O'Boyle, "stand up and tell the class how Abraham Lincoln died." Jackie got up and shaking his head said, "Gee teacher, I didn't even know the poor guy was sick."

Dicky Hayes works for Mass Electric. He also is a part-time bartender nights. He helps keep the town, "HALF-LIT".

Sonny Pearlman said to Ruthie, "I was NOT yawning dear, the whole time you were talking I was just trying to say something!"

The answer to the problem is, "The surgeon is the boy's MOTHER."

Folks, I am proud to mention Woodchips fans from Canada and the Maritimes, Peter Lawlor in Edmonton, Alberta, Hazel Black in Kitchener, Ontario, Dot Lauels in Truso, Alice Spence in Windsor Junction and Dorothy Sheas in Cape Breton, Nova Scotia and George Gould, cousins in Prince Edward Island.

THE VILLAGE CHURCH

In a little church near Naples, A city by the sea, 'Mid olive trees and maples, our fathers prayed on bended knee.

'Twas a humble house of prayer, They truly loved it so, As they worshipped daily there, Coming from high and low.

No painted dome to please the eye, Or costly chandelier. No organ notes or choir high to charm the listening ear.

No pictured casement rich and rare, With polished crimson stain. No carpet in the aisles were there, Inside or out was plain.

No marble pillars are needed, To answer our Lord's call, For the Prince of Peace has pleaded, "Come, I love you all."

New England Capital Funding becomes U.S. Mortgage agent

New England Capital Funding, a local mortgage services firm based in Woburn, signed a definitive agreement as agents for U.S. Mortgage, representing that firm's mortgage programs.

As the number one firm in the industry, U.S. Mortgage offers the best quality programs available, which has resulted in the firm having New England Capital Funding, as marketing agent for U.S. Mortgage will offer USM's programs exclusively.

The primary benefit of utilizing the mortgage reduction program is the increase in equity that results. By simultaneously decreasing the interest costs and the term of the loan, the equity in a property can be increased by two to three times over a conventional payment method.

Given the high percentage of accounting errors in calculating principal and interest payments, the auditing programs are recommended in conjunction with the reduction payment plan. The sophistication of the U.S. Mortgage programs easily overcomes the risk of the property owner attempting these transactions without assistance.

New England Capital Funding is owned and operated by John J. Cagnina, Jr. Known as Jack to his friends and associates, he and his wife, Deborah make their home in Reading, with their four children.

History of Irish Potato Famine

The Museum of Our National Heritage will present Famine!, a major exhibition examining the devastating history of Ireland's potato famine interpreting this important chapter in Irish history to an American audience. The exhibition, drawn from premiere institutions throughout the Republic of Ireland and Northern Ireland, will also trace the subsequent mass emigration to the United States and its profound effect on our country's cultural and social history. Famine! will be on view through December 29, 1996.

For the past year and a half, organizations all over the Irish Republic Northern Ireland, Canada, Australia, and the United States have been planning and conducting events commemorating the 150th anniversary of "The Great Hunger" in Ireland which lasted between 1845 and 1851. The centerpiece of these programs have been the common potato, which for Ireland's rural population, was the principal food consumed year round.

When blight struck in the fall crop of 1845, thousands of families were left without anything to eat. During the next few years, despite controversial attempts by the British government to cope with the crisis, famine became widespread throughout the island.

The artifacts, images presented in Famine! have been drawn from institutions throughout Ireland including the National Library, the National Museum, the National Gallery the Department of Irish Folklore at University College in Dublin, TEA-GASC, the Ulster American Folklore Museum, Ulster Folk and Transport Museum, and the Famine Museum at Strokestown. Materials will also be on loan from the Forbes Mansion.

The Museum of Our National Heritage is dedicated to presenting exhibitions on a wide variety of topics in American History and popular culture. Admission is free. For further information contact 617-961-6559.

MacIntyre Crossing Grand Opening

Century 21 Carriage House and Century 21 Spindler and O'Neil announce the Grand Opening of MacIntyre Crossing, North Reading's exciting new neighborhood, Sunday, November 17, 1996 1-4 PM.

Habitech Inc., developer and builder of this unique project is known for its quality workmanship, attention to details and superior customer service. "We have set extremely high standards for ourselves and our homes," said Bruce Wheeler developer. "And, we expect the same from everyone who works on our projects."

With twenty-five years of combined experience, Habitech has built over 140 homes in North Reading, Boxborough and Stow including the exceptional Forest Park & Harold Parker Estates neighborhoods. Their reputation for excellence is widespread.

MacIntyre Crossing, Habitech's newest project, features a unique combination of 63 impressive 1-3 acre home sites, acres of serenely wooded open space and an exciting new neighborhood pool and playground while maintaining the natural landscaping of the area. Each home at MacIntyre Crossing will be designed with its particular lot in mind by well-known architects Rack and Ruin Design.

Buyers can choose from eight different models, each featuring light-filled rooms soaring ceilings, ings, natural cedar siding, and ceramic tiled baths. Wheeler works with each buyer to customize their chosen model. He also employs a professional interior decorator to work with each buyer to help with individual selections. "We are very fortunate to be marketing homes in a town like North Reading... a town that offers good schools and community activity with easy access to Routes 1, 93, and 128", says Wheeler's partner Brian Ahern.

Grand Opening for MacIntyre Crossing will be held Sunday November 17, 1996 from 1-4 PM. Laura Fitzgerald of Century 21 Carriage House and Margo Cory of Century 21 Spindler and O'Neil invite everyone to come out and meet the builders, tour the site and take advantage of the $10,000 Grand Opening Buyer Bonus.

Directions: take Route 62 to Turner Drive, right on Pickard, right on Shasta, left on Erwin to end of Angle Road. For more details call Laura Fitzgerald at Century 21 Carriage House 475-1243 or Margo Cory at Century 21 Spindler and O'Neil 664-1094.

Your Home: Q&A

I have so many projects to do around my house. How should I begin?

You'll save time, money and a lot of frustration if you think a project through and carefully plan each step before beginning.

For almost any undertaking, large or small, you'll benefit by drawing up your plans on paper. A good set of plans lets you see what tools you'll need and aids in estimating the amount and cost of the materials you'll use. It also helps you see the complexity of the entire job, so that you can decide whether or not you'll need professional help.

When planning a large project, break it down into a series of small, manageable projects. This allows you to make timely purchases, organize your time and spot any work that requires a professional.

Begin by making a sketch or diagram of the project. It needn't be elaborate or artistic — simply clear enough to illustrate what you mean to do, showing all the parts and indicating the materials you plan to use. You can make simple outlines of the parts and use heavy dots of X's for the nails, screws or bolts.

Then, to ensure accurate results, transfer the sketch to graph paper, letting each square on the paper equal 1 foot or some other clear-cut measurement.

For large projects, if you don't want to draw your own plans, you can alter existing ones. Purchase ready-drawn plans at home centers, or copy plans from books or magazines. If your project is elaborate, some home centers offer personalized computer planning.

Once the plans for the project are drawn up, think the whole job through and make a list of the major steps. Put the steps in order, break them down into substeps, and number the steps and substeps.

Checking through the steps, make a list of all the tools you will want to have on hand. Then examine the steps and plans to determine the amount of materials you will need, including fasteners and the hardware.

Line up helpers if the job is going to require working with materials that are heavy or awkward to handle. Also, set up a space for working on the project and storing the materials.

If there will be a lot of waste material, decide how you will recycle or dispose of it. Remember that materials such as oils, paints, lacquers, varnishes, thinners, strippers and other solvents are flammable or toxic. Some are hazardous to the environment.

Follow label directions for disposal. Or contact your local government to learn how to dispose of them properly.

Before finalizing any building or renovation plans, review them with your local building inspector, so that you are familiar with any related codes, restrictions or requirements and have complied with the law if a permit is necessary.

Get a permit if you need one, and schedule any necessary inspections. Permits are usually required for major renovations, such as turning a garage into a guest room. But they also may be required for small jobs, such as walling in a patio, building a barbecue with a high chimney, breaking through a curb to install a driveway, and many plumbing and electrical jobs.

When working on a project that requires digging or excavating, such as putting in a sidewalk, ask your local utility and cable companies to mark the location of underground cables or pipelines before you start digging.

This will protect you from possible injury, liability and disruption of service.

Splitting wood requires thought

With cold weather fast approaching, owners of wood-burning stoves and fireplaces are beginning to stockpile their winter supply of firewood.

For some people, getting wood is easy. Just call someone who sells it. Others, perhaps out of a commitment to a do-it-yourself spirit, prefer to cut their own.

The Hand Tools Institute has some safety tips for such people.

The Institute, an association of tool manufacturers based in Tarrytown, NY, said that people who think all that is needed to cut wood is brute strength should think again.

Certain rules must be followed to do a safe woodsplitting job. Foremost, the Institute said, safety goggles should be worn at all times to prevent injury to the eyes from flying chips of metal or wood.

"Perhaps one of the most common misconceptions among many woodsplitters is that it is correct to strike the woodsplitting wedge with the flat, striking

Hand tool safety tips

The Hand Tools Institute (HTI) an association of U.S. and Canadian hand tool manufacturers, says that with the rising labor cost of professional craftsmen, more and more homeowners and other do-it-yourselfers are making their own repairs to save money.

In the process of performing the unfamiliar electrical, plumbing or carpentry work, the novice may also be facing the task with hand tools either not suited for the job or misusing the one he or she has. The result can be devastating ranging from damaging costly materials and tools to serious personal injury.

This can be avoided, HTI states, if the tool user follows some simple rules. First, be certain that the hand tools used are the correct ones to do the job.

For example, many persons are surprised to learn that there are at least 10 different types of wrenches, over 125 types of pliers, 12 types of screwdrivers, 15 types of hammers and many other tools that can save hours of labor and give the job a professional look.

HTI also recommends the use of safety goggles when working with hand tools. Chances are you will be picking up a variety of tools on any given job. While some have more potential for personal injury than others, it pays to protect your eyes for the duration of the project.

Here are some added pointers:

Plastic covered plier handles are for comfort only, not protection from electrical current.

Claw Hammers are for driving and removing finishing and common unhardened nails. Don't strike other steel tools such as chisels, punches or masonry nails with a claw hammer.

When sockets should never be used on power or impact wrenches. Hand sockets usually have a bright finish, but many have a black finish.

Never use an axe to strike a wood-splitting wedge-use a wood-chopper's maul or a sledge and never use the axe as a splitting wedge.

Never use any struck tool, such as a chisel or punch, that is chipped or mushroomed. Discard it.

Don't use a screwdriver for prying, punching, chiseling, scoring or scraping. Never use an extension bar such as a length of pipe to increase leverage on a wrench. This could result in breakage of the wrench and personal injury.

Ball peen hammers of appropriate size or hand drilling hammers should be used to strike chisels, punches and star drills. Do not use the claw hammer.

Never use a C-clamp for hoisting or for supporting a scaffold or platform or for securing a load that may be carried on a vehicle or a truck.

Remember, one tool is not enough. There are many types of wrenches, pliers, screwdrivers, hammers, etc., each suitable for a specific job. Your selection should include an assortment of each of the commonly used hand tools plus a pair of safety goggles.

Wood From S-18

face of the axe. Axes are not intended to withstand the blow and the possibility of metal chip fragmentation is very high."

Instead, woodcutters should use a woodchopper's maul or a double faced sledge of six pounds or heavier.

"Axes are used to fell or trim trees and split and cut wood with their cutting edge. Their striking face may be used to drive soft materials, like wood or plastic stakes, but should never be used against woodsplitting steel wedges." This precaution will not only help prevent injury but will also lengthen the life of the tool.

Woodsplitting wedges are necessary when the cutting edge of the axe will not do the job. This is normally the case when the diameter of the wood to be split is too large or the length of the wood is too long. In this case it is recommended that a starting notch be made with the cutting edge of the maul. By inserting the wedge and tapping lightly to insure the wedge is firmly in place, the wood can be easily split.

The person should position himself so his weight is well balanced to strike the wedge squarely with the face of the maul or sledge hammer. Avoid glancing blows as they would send the wedge flying.

HTI recommends the user occasionally examine the tool for chip cracks or excessive wear. People should also rest frequently as fatigue can result in a miscalculated swing.

SUPPLEMENT TO TOWN CRIER, NOVEMBER 13, 1996

Wilmington Rotary Club
POST OFFICE BOX 503
WILMINGTON, MASSACHUSETTS 01887

November 8, 1996

Dear Friends:

As current President of the Wilmington Rotary Club, I would like to thank you for your continued support of our Rotary Club. The Wilmington Rotary Club has been an active part of the community since 1944. In its fifty-two year history the Club has raised hundred of thousands of dollars for a variety of community and international service projects.

It is through the continued participation and support of many individuals and business organizations in the Wilmington community that make our efforts such a wonderful success. It is those very individuals and business organizations that we would like to salute at this time and say once again a heart felt "THANK YOU!"

On the local level, the Rotary Club of Wilmington is involved in many community events, some of which include:

Wilmington Rotary Club Scholarship Fund Trust - The Wilmington Rotary Club has, over the past eleven years, been proud to be the donator of $127,000 in local student scholarships. The Wilmington Rotary Club is the largest single donor of scholarship funds in Wilmington, and the Rotary Auction is the largest fund raiser we have.

Christmas Drive - The Wilmington Rotary Club collects toys, clothing and food for disbursement to local residents in need at the Christmas season. This event is one that is close to the hearts of our members, as its satisfaction is instantaneous. Nothing can give you the spirit of love and joy at Christmas as does helping a neighbor in need.

Various Community Projects - Over the years, the Rotary Club has involved itself in various community projects such as supplying and installing the lighting on Town Common, providing bicycles to the Police Department for Safety Day and has continually been involved in the improvement and landscaping of Rotary Park, which was donated to the Town by the Wilmington Rotary Club.

Only with your help can the Wilmington Rotary Club continue to have an impact on the future of Wilmington, a future that we will shape.

Please help us continue to play an active role in the community by tuning in on Thursday, November 21, 1996 from 6:30- 10:30 p.m. on Channel 30 - WCTV and bidding on our items for auction. And plan on joining us Friday, November 22, 1996 at the Knights of Columbus Hall for our live auction beginning at 7:00 p.m. for viewing. The live auction will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Don't miss becoming involved in our special raffle with the grand prize being $10,000!

If you would like any additional information, please feel free to contact me at (508) 658-6886. Looking forward to seeing you!

During Wilmington's Fourth of July Celebrations the Rotary club serves up a barbecue dinner (usually on the common). Here the chickens are at the K of C Hall due to the threat of rain (it never did, really). Toting the tongs are John Doherty, Ed Whitney, Tom Craig, and Jay Emond. Ever at the ready to substitute is Jack Cushing.

Jack Cushing is well known in softball circles as the referee. Here, however, he takes his turn at bat flipping the chickens 'til they're just right as Jay Emond counts the birds, one by one.

They'll serve no chicken 'til it's tasted. Dave Gagnon, Herb Peterson and Michael Newhouse perform the quality control duties. Ever the perfectionists they tasted, tasted and tasted, inside out of the (not so) inclement weather in the atmospherically controlled (read: usually sweltering) K of C kitchen.

John Doherty seem surprised that anyone would find it a photo opportunity to see him working at the grill. John, a tireless worker, usually organizes, cajoles, persuades and directs his friends as they accomplish the most amazing tasks, but sometimes one has to take the chicken by the horns.

When your Dad's a Rotarian you get the best opportunities to help out a worthy cause. Robbie and Stephen Peterson's dads are both Rotarians so it's not unusual to see them pitching in at any Rotary Club project.
